Nixon Team Plans Its Own Ad Agency For '72 (

By Don Oberdorfer Washington Post Staff Writer

The Nixon political team is history. Other sources close to establishing its own house" advertising agency to lection drive scoft at such . plan and produce a multi-mil- high estimate, saying the ac lion-dollar "selling of the President" media campaign in closer to $10 million."

According to some sources, the Nixon ad campaign is expected to cost $15 million to $1.2 million on newspaper add $18 million, which would make it by the far the most intensive and expensive political sales campaign in American sion of the campaign reform

"in the President's budding re-e campaign will cost "much

> In 1968, the Nixon-Agnev ticket spent $12.6 million or television and radio time and bill now pending on Capito Hill, presidential candidate: would be limited next year to $8.4 million for television and radio ads and a somewha smaller sum for newspaper and magazine advertising. Al these figures are time and space charges, not including production costs of the ads.
>
> The 1968 ad committee, like most others, reported to Johr N. Mitchell, the Nixon cam paign manager (now Attorney General).

This time, Mitchell is again expected to be in overal. charge but the rest of the or ganization will be different.

Instead of hiring an outside agency, the Nixon team has hired its own advertising director, a yet unnamed execu tive with a commercial agency. The new chief will re cruit his own group of copy writers and other creative spe cialists and may do his own placement of ads and buying of time.

By establishing its little Madison Avenue unit on Penn sylvania Avenue, the Nixon team would not have to pay the 15 per cent advertising agency commission charged by outside firms. However, opera tives, in the President's camp point out that the "Nixon agency" would have to pay its own salaries and other expen ses, thus reducing the saving to an estimated 2 to 3 per cent of billings.

Some sources say the Presi dent's chief of staff, H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, will be in direct charge of the Nixon advertising effort in 1972. Haldeman Los Angeles director for J. Walter Thompson, the na tion's largest advertising agency, before joining the gov ernment.

But White House press sec retary Ronald L. Ziegler last night denied the report about Haldeman. "He will not play a key part and will have nothing to do with those advertising aspects of the campaign organ ization," Ziegler said.