NYTimes

tive John M. Ashbrook's candi-dacy was filed last week with the California Secretary of State. The delegates would at-tend the Republican National Convention to vote for the should win the Republican Presidential primary in Califor-nia on June 6. Trevor C. Roberts, who helped organize the slate of Intervention to the slate of contributor.

By WALLACE TURNER Special to The New York Times SAN FRANCISCO, March 5— The Republican right has moved to attempt to drain away President Nixon's strength in his home state in retaliation for political moves that it op-poses. A slate of 96 delegates pledged to support Representa-tive John M. Ashbrook's candi-dacy was filed last week with the California Secretary State, The delt Servative in the Legislature. Mr. Roberts said he was not dismayed by the results of an opinion sampling announced last week by the California Poll. This showed that Mr. Nixon would get 74 per cent of the vote in the primary, that Rep-resentative Paul N. McCloskey I. the liberal Republican who Jr., the liberal Republican who is also campaigning against Mr. Nixon, would get 11 per cent, and Mr. Ashbrook 7 per cent. Eight per cent were un-decided decided.

Presidential primary in Califor-nia on June 6. Trevor C. Roberts, who helped organize the slate of pledged delegates, said his ef-fort had the backing of leading members of United Republicans of California and the California Republican Assembly. These groups are rightist dominated, in the view of observers here, and are not so strong as they once were. "I feel that the Republican party ought to be alerted to the fact that Nixon is no great state," Mr. Roberts said in a telephone interview. "No one really realizes the "No one really realizes the management the state of "I feel that the republican state," Mr. Roberts said in a "No one really realizes the management the the state of "No one really realizes the management the the state of "I feel that the republican the size of the state. "No one really realizes the management to so strong as they state," Mr. Roberts said in a "No one really realizes the management the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of "I feel that the republican the state of state," Mr. Roberts said in a telephone interview. "No one really realizes the management the state of the state of the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of the state of the state of "I feel that the management the state of the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of the state of the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of the state of "No one really realizes the management the state of the state o