Kleindienst Says Bus Curb Could Reopen Rights Suits

He Asserts Nixon Would Welcome Court Test on Constitutionality

By JOHN HERBERS

Special to The New York Times WASHINGTON, April 12 Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst testified today that President Nixon's antibusing legislation would permit the reopening of every school desegregation case in the country to meet standards in the proposed legislation.

His testimony, before the House Judiciary Committee, conflicted with that of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Elliot L. Richardson, who told the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee last permit the reopening of rela-fore Congress on the legal month that the measure would tively few of the desegregation aspects of the antibusing legisorders in effect.

was important in that influen- lowing: 1 Southern members of Con-Mi districts that have undergone view by the Supreme Court to extensive school integration an

United Press International Richard G. Kleindienst

In his first appearance belation, submitted March 24, Mr. Mr. Kleindienst's statement Kleindienst also did the fol-

The said the Administration gress have opposed President would welcome a provision in legislation on the the proposal for a moratorium hat it would not help on court-ordered busing that of Southern school would provide for a quick reactione expressly forbidden by secretary Richardson said at a news conference following submission of the legislation that he knew of no court de-cision to bring "racial balance," McCulloch Accusation William M. McCulloch of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the committee, accused the Ad-ministration of "asking the Con-gress to prostitute the courts by obligating them to suspend are in two parts: (1) to stay all court orders requiring addi-tion prescribing standards for desegregation. As soon as Mr. Kleindienst to draw guidelines in the law to limit busing to achieve de-segregation. As soon as Mr. Kleindienst of both parties charged that the sof both parties charged that the for Ninistration had submitted unconstitutional legislation. Emanuel Celler, Democrat of Brooklyn, the House, Judicary Committee chairman, compared Mr. Nixon's action to that of Brooklyn, the House, Judicary (Committee chairman, compared Mr. Nixon's action to that of Broeklyn, the House Judicary (Committee chairman, compared Mr. Nixon's action to that of President Franklin D. Roose-velt's proposal to enlarge the Court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the Court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-("It seemed to me that the court-packing plan was an un-

Continued on Page 27, Column 1 had some additional busing.

The refused to give his opinion on constitutional amendments against busing be-for legislation instead on the grounds that it was quicker and less drastic. The said he believed "some" lower " and less drastic. The said he believed that "some" lower Federal courts had ordered desegregation to achieve "racial balance," an action expressly forbidden by the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Secretary Richardson said at a news conference following provision, Mr. Kleindienst said, "If you're going to have the men of the lawyers committee national standard then you've for civil rights under law, dis-got to has a right to reopen got to has a right to reopen asked Robert McCroy, Repub-lican of Illinois. "Yes sir," Mr. Kleindienst replied. In his prepared statement, than taking it away, as they dents cited gy the Administra-trop said that some prece-ton for the legislation were in "Yes sir," Mr. Kleindienst fact Congress extending 14th Amendment protection rather SAN MATEO, Calif., April 12 San MATEO, Calif., April 12 San MATEO, Calif., April 12 Commission on Civil Rights, in a "particular remedy,"—busing. Asked what the situation a good question." But he added the source added not think of a good question." But he added Would be true. Kleindienst said, "that raises a good question." But he added the source added not think of a good question." But he added busing in the current school John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian and Lloyd N. Cutler, a for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessa for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation. Ninety-five John Doar, a former Assist-ant Atlory Guessian for desegregation heard them, and that includes them all," he went on. "We're living in an age of midgets." Asked if he planned to re-sign as chairman in protest, Father Hesburgh replied that he did not

Father Hesburgh replied that he did not. "I'd get one headline, and then he'd put in a rabbit," Fa-ther Hesburgh, who was ap-pointed by the President, said. There is nothing sacred about busing, he said, adding that, it was just one method of pro-viding better education for de-prived children. He was here to address the 49th annual Notre Dame Night gathering, sponsored by Bay area and San Jose alumni clubs.

clubs.