

Notes on People

No byline

Exit the Mitchells. Enter the Longs. The lavish duplex apartment on the seventh and eighth floors of Washington's fashionable Watergate Apartments that has been home for John N. and Martha Mitchell during the Nixon Administration is going to get some new tenants. Mr. Mitchell and his wife are returning to Rye, N. Y., following the former Attorney General's decision to bow out as the head of the President's re-election campaign. The Mitchells' duplex is being purchased by Senator Russell B. Long of Louisiana and his wife, Carolyn, who will take possession in October. It is a small step up for the Longs, who occupy a duplex on lower floors of the Watergate.