

'Getting Us Out of Vietnam'

To the Editor:

The President stresses the point that he is "getting us out of Vietnam." From Pearl Harbor to V-J Day, the United States fought and won World War II. That took three years, eight months, and one week. Mr. Nixon has been President for three years, seven months, and one week. The Nixon disengagement has taken over 20,000 American lives and tens of billions of dollars.

DONALD W. KLEIN
Research Associate
Columbia University
New York, Aug. 23, 1972