

"It is Nixon himself who represents that dark, venal and incurably violent side of the American character almost every other country has learned to fear and despise."

—Hunter S. Thompson in Fear and Loathing: On the Campaign Trail '72

"Hunter Thompson's is the best stuff on the campaign I've read anywhere."—Nicholas von Hoffman in the Washington Post

"Gaze in awe. . . . Thompson does in his own mad way betray a profound democratic concern for the polity. And in its own mad way, it's damned refreshing."—The New York Times

"From this moment on, let all those who feel the Americans can be as easily led to beauty as to ugliness, to truth as to public relations, to joy as to bitterness, be said to be suffering from Hunter Thompson's disease."—Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. in Harper's

"As (Thompson) continually discovers more froth and deception, his reaction is caustic stone outrage, wildly laden with obscene phrases and apocalyptic fury. Godzilla Promises Peace With Honor, Blood and Suffering, Fear and Loathing!"—William Greider in the Washington Post

"An unnerving glimpse of the adrenalin highs and numb, sullen lows of . . . the most dismal Presidential campaign in living memory."—Newsweek

$7.95; 506 pages; illustrated by Ralph Steadman
Straight Arrow Books

Savile Book Shop

Serving Washington readers for more than a quarter of a century. Mail & phone orders promptly filled. Please include 50c for mailing. D.C. residents add 5% tax (40c) for each book.

3236 "P" St. just west of Wisconsin Avenue, Georgetown

10-10 Daily

FE 8-3321

1-6 Sundays