The Washington Merry-Go-Round

id Soviets Manipulate U.S. Market

By Jack Anderson

The Soviets not only outtraded American grain dealers last year but may have helped to finance the 400-millionbushel purchase by manipulating the U.S. commodity mar-

This possibility has got Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) digging through commodity records in search of evidence which may reveal just how badly the Communists beat the capitalists at their own

Jackson suspects the Soviets used European companies as fronts to trade in wheat futures. Since the Soviets alone knew how massive their U.S. grain purchases would be, they could have used this inside knowledge to speculate side knowledge to speculate on the commodity market.

Jackson believes this is ex actly what the Soviets did through dummy companies. They could have squeezed millions out of U.S. investors, then used the proceeds to help pay for the grain.

As Jackson has pieced to-gether the story, here's how the Soviets skinned the American grain operators:

First, the Kremlin hordes of bright young men to study the American commodity market. They developed a remarkable understanding of squandered the taxpayers' • The White House offices air conditioning, too. remarkable understanding of squandered the taxpayers' • The White House offices how the market operates, then money to renovate his own of Treasury Secretary George purchases.

The American grain dealers, would wind up buying just about all the grain on the dipped freely into the public lot from the White House, the commercial against one another. Thus the Soviets got bargain deals before the Americans realized they could have made the same sales without price cut-

Jackson believes the Soviets also knew their $660 million purchase would drive up the price of wheat futures. He is convinced, therefore, that they invested heavily in wheat fu-tures before other investors realized what was happening.

Every dollar that the Russians squeezed out of the American grain companies, of course, has been passed on to the consumers. This has led to higher prices for bread, poultry, pork and beef.

Some insiders ruefully refer to the Soviet grain deal as the Great Grain Robbery. But as usual in such affairs, it was the American consumers who were robbed.

White House Extravagance President Nixon has sent slashed funds to build homes they began making piecemeal | homes at San Clemente, Calif., | Shultz now contain and Key Biscayne, Fla.

Now we have obtained inter- and cove lighting." not knowing that the Soviets nal government documents o In the Executive Office that show his aides, too, have Building across the parking market, bid till to fix up their White GSA House offices. The fanciest re- "alterations and built-in cabifurbishing job, ironically, was netry" for the office of Health, ordered for the chief fund- Education and Welfare Secre-Roy Ash.

> istration memo, never meant ter Flanigan and $1,000 for imto be read outside the govern-ment, lists the following and Urban Development Secment, lists the following "projects in the White House > area":

>
> • GSA installed "new panelling, cove lighting and built-in cabinetry" for Ash's Bruce Kehrli has asked the built-in capinetry for Asia's offices on the second floor of the White House. The "total estimated construction cost study" for the "general upgrading and conversion of the grading and conversion of the Cold Clark Library to a pay for these offices," states the memo, "is $21,500."

were refurbished at a cost of tral air conditioning, new $3,500. The project included the included the included the included the included lighting, and new reading and librarian areas. The total estimates the included training includes the included training included t lighting."

the taxpayers an estimated $8,- Mr. Kehrli." 500. But the unhappy Ehrlich-

$4.100 worth of "built-in cabinetry

spent slasher himself, budget boss tary Caspar Weinberger, anoy Ash.
A General Services Admin-fice of presidential adviser Peretary James Lynn.

White House aides may also get an expensive new reading room. Presidential assistant Old State Library to a new White House Library. This memo, "is $21,500."

The offices of presidential white House Library. This counselor Anne Armstrong project will include new central air conditioning, new trading and mated construction cost • Cove lighting and other this project is $275,000. This renovations for "the offices of Mr. John Ehrlichman" cost status at the instructions of

Meanwhile, there are a lot of sick and disabled veterans, sweltering in their hospital rooms, who would like some