issinger Seeks 'True

By Marilyn Berger Wasnington Post Staff Writer

In his first formal speech as Secretary of State, Kissinger

General Assembly chamber support behind a world food attaches to the values and Washington Post Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, Sept.
24—Henry A. Kissinger yesterday recommitted the United States to the original goals of the United Nations, saying, "my country seeks a true peace, not simply an armistice."

In his first formal speech as the original speech as the performance of the United Nations of the United Nations, so the United Nations, so the United Nations, saying, the United Nations of the United Nations."

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the United Nations."

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the Values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the Values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the Values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the Values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging attaches to the Values and conference in 1974, under U.N.

Thus began Kissinger's first foraging

The new Secretary of State proposals, -who called

Aside from these concrete roposals, the Kissinger sought to globalize the detente "probably the world's most has been so instrumental in trying to establish among the superpowers.

It was a statement filled with the rhetoric of peace that so often resounds through the sought to globalize the detente "probably the world's most junior foreign minister" — called for new guidelines for peacekeeping, "so that this organization can act swiftly, confidently and effectively in future crises." He also put U.S. is speech provided much that devotees of the United Nations would like to hear. "That President Nixon should ask me as my first official act to speak here for the United States," said Kissinger, "reaffirms the ture crises." He also put U.S. importance that my country See KISSINGER, A19, Col. 1 himself speech provided much that de-forum for the world's havenots, a place where the Maldive Islands has a vote equal to the United States or the Soviet Union. It is a world that has not figured greatly in Kissing-er's past scale of priorities, but yesterday he sought to draw the entire membership into his orbit of detente.

KISSINGER, From A1

"We strive for a peace whose stability rests not merely on a balance of forces, but on shared aspirations," he said.

". . in this spirit we ask the assembly to move with us from detente to cooperation, to communication to communication. from cooperation to community."

Kissinger cited prgress, including arms control measures taken with the Soviet Union and the end of "two decades of enstrangement between the United States and China, He gave credit to others-the two Germany's, the two Koreas and India, Pakistan and Ban-gladesh, which have movedt oward reconciliation.

"Yet these achievements, solid as they are, have only made less precarious the dangers and divisions inherited from the postwar era," said Kissiner. He noted that, "the vocabulary of suspicion persists." And in a veiled reference to the recent speech by Soviet Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev in Sofia, Bulgaria, he said pointedly: "Relaxation of tensions is justified by some as merely a tac-tical interlude before renewed struggle."

What Kissinger sought was the habit of detente based on . shared needs in an increasingly interdependent world. "Are we prepared to accept the imperatives of a global society and infuse our labors with a new vision?" He asked toward the end of his speech. 'Or shall we content ourselves with a temporary pause in the turmoil that has wracked our century?"

As he spoke, his parents, refugees with him from the Nazi holocaust, listened proudly from the sidelines. An unusual standing-room only crowd filled the halls.

In the understated style of the U.N., Kissinger refrained from charges against other

Addressing standing-room-only audience at United Nations General Assembly, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger calls for broadened peace efforts, pledging movement "detente to cooperation, cooperation to community."

S

been repeatedly accused of defined by national frontiers." nying its citizens.

At another point, Kissinger countries but made several reaffirmed the deep belief Israeli concerns about a new to human rights, held by the United States which the Soviet Union has "that justice cannot be consettlement, Kissinger added: said Tekoah "This was one of mying its citizens.

"We are convinced," said that to distrub the dinner he was no word beyond that to distrub the dinner he was to host in the evening for pared to use our influence to soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who was seated in the audience listening to most of man-to-him.

But there was no word beyond directly involved, we are prepared to use our influence to generate a spirit of accommodation and to urge the parties toward practical progress."

Isaeli Ambassador Joseph to him.

In words clearly soothing to Tekoah

"that justice cannot be con-fined by national frontiers."
But there was no word beyond for the efforts of those most

Isaeli Ambassador Joseph was obviously dęsaid Tekoah· "This was one of the most impressie addresses I've ever heard. We welcome the statement of the U.S. desire to see practical progress made toward peace and the emphasis that the U.S. cannot substitute itself for the parties."

Jordanian Ambassador Abdul Hamid Sharaf was visibly disappointed, although he said he had expected a statement that was broadly philosophical. "We'll have to wait to understand more on the specific issues," he stated.

The Arabs have not welg comed Kissinger with open arms.