NYTimes NOV 2 8 1973 Foreign Service Expects to Lose JISCO

By BERNARD GWERTZMAN Special to The New York Times actively involved in the inten-sive Middle East diplomacy of the last two months, has come as a surprise since it had been assumed by many officials that he would remain working for either in his present job or in a new one. But it was understood that Mr. Sisco, the Assistant Secre-man South Asian Affairs, had and make his own recommencan State Department changes in part by the Secretary's in-expected in the wake of Mr. volvement with the Middle Kissinger's taking over as Sec-retary of State in late Septem-Sisco To Aid Transition

Authoritative sources said for Intelligence and Research, that Mr. Stoessel's replacement who joined the Georgetown WASHINGTON, Nov. 27— Joseph J. Sisco, the State De-partment's top official on Mid-cast affairs, is expected to No. 2 man in the American miseast affairs, is expected to leave the Government soon to leave the Government soon to accept a college presidency, a well-placed Administration offi-cial said today. The word of the departure of Mr. Sisco, who has been actively involved in the inten-has been strongly recommend-has been strongly recommend-and South Asian Affairs, had and make his own recommen-made up his mind to accept the dations.

indue up his mind to accept the dations. college post some time ago, be-fore the current Middle East crisis. The source declined to name the college pending a formal announcement in the next few up filled the college post some time ago, be-ings, he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he expected to fill all vacant spots by the middle of November, but about 30 key jobs are still up filled unfilled.

Mr. Sisco's expected depar-ture is one of the more signifi-tate becaused in part by the Secretary's in-Middle retary of State in late Septem-ber. A department official said that a long list of Mr. Kissin-ger's choices to fill vacant am-bassadorships and State De-partment posts had recently been sent to the White House for final approval and an-nouncement. Stoessel Appointment Seen The most significant ambas-sadorial appointment expected to be made known in coming ays is that of Walter J. Stoes-sel Jr., the Assistant Secretary for European Affairs, as the new envoy to the Soviet Un-ion. Mr. Stoessel to To Aid Transition Mr. Sisco has agreed to re-main in his post as long as necessary to maintain con-tinuity in the Middle East diplomacy. He has also told friends that he had no per-sonal problems in working with Mr. Kissinger or any po-litical dissatisfaction with the Nixon Administration. On Mr. Kissinger's recent trip to the Middle East, Mr. Sisco played a major role in persuading the Israeli Govern-ment to accept the six-point cease fire agreement worked out by Mr. Kissinger in Cairo. The assignment of Mr. Stoessel to Moscow would end new envoy to the Soviet Un-ion. Mr. Stoessel, who is 53 years old, has had extensive expe-old, has had extensive expe-speaks Russian. His name has been kong rumored to be that likely to be put forward to fill the vacancy existing since Jacob D. Bean retired in Janu-ary. History Construction of the solution of the