Special to The New York Times WASHINGTON, May 28— Senator Stuart Symington said tonight that he would ask for a secret session of the Senate to review the American in volvement in the war in Laos. In a speech prepared for de livery this evening before the Harvard Faculty Club in Cam-

Harvard Facurty Chub Syming-bridge, Mass., Senator Syming-ton, a member of both the ton, a member of both the Convinced that Congress is not Armed Services and Foreign "convinced that Congress is not losing control of this multi-Relations Committees, said he had become convinced that already lost it." "the people, as well as most 'Administration Lost Control' of their Congressional represen-tatives, have little or no knowl-

members of the Foreign Re-lations Committee—James G. Lowenstein and Richard M. Moose—after an inspection trip to Laos.

Lowenstein-Moose The report, which is classified on ord-ers of the State Department, financing 4,800 Thai troops to Derations. Then, Senator

Lowenstein-Moose report in ex-

"Not only has the Congress tatives, have little or no knowl-edge of the long and tragic lost control through lack of war being conducted in that country, and therefore even less knowledge of the amount of money involved." The Missouri Democrat said be was requesting the session

The Missouri Democrat said he was requesting the session so that Senators would know the facts of American involve-ment in Laos "before they ap-propriate more funds for this clandestine war." Last Such Session in '69 Under Senate rules, a secret session is held on the request of any Senator. The last secret session on Laos was in Decem-ber, 1969, and it resulted in an amendment to the Defense Ap-propriations Act prohibiting the introduction of American ground combat troops into Laos or Cambodia.

and the secret session, Senator Symington is expected to pre-sent the findings of a report recently submitted by two staff members of the Foreign Re-lations Committee—James G. Lowenstein and Richard M. Moose—after an inspection trip was a mistake." Among those testifying at the May 5 hearing were Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., Chief of Naval Symington Ight in Laos on benaif of the Then, Senator Symington Laotian Government. Earlier said, the committee staff issued hearings by the Senate Foreign a report, which had not been Relations Subcommittee on cleared with all members of the Foreign Commitments, headed committee, stating that "the