HANGCHOW — (AP) —
On the island of Three Towers Reflecting the Moon, in West Lake, where the Nixon-Chou party went ashore today, Premier Chou ushered the visitors into the Pavilion of Enjoyment in Listening to the Bird Song — a large aviary.

Chou approached one cage holding a pair of love birds and talked to them in Chinese. Almost on cue, they began kissing.

"How lovey dovey," Mrs. Nixon said.

Chou said he always talks to bird at his home in Peking.

The island is a famous spot for honeymoon couples to hold hands, once permission is given by the local revolutionary committee.
