

From report by Clifton Daniel on Nixon news conference
31 Jan 73:

.....

A smile lurked around Mr. Nixon's lips and eyes as he dispensed political advice to potential successors and scored points against the adversary he never forgets - the news media.

Declaring that "we have finally achieved a peace with honor," the President told the newsmen clustered around him ..., "I know it gags some of you to write that phrase, but it is true, and most Americans realize it is true

... "