

Ex-Aide Haldeman Uses Office Near President's

H.R. (Bob) Haldeman, whose resignation as White House chief of staff President Nixon accepted on April 30, is leaving the White House by slow stages.

Although he went off the government payroll last week, he is continuing to make use of an office not far from the President's in the Executive Office Building.

.....