Washington is getting Julie Nixon Eisenhower down, say her friends. Richard Nixon's daughter is feeling blue and would like to move to California.

But Mrs. Eisenhower's husband, David, will get his law degree from George Washington University in June—and he has indicated he would like to stay on the East Coast, perhaps to go into newspaper work and later into politics.

As for Julie Eisenhower, she would like to have a television program of her own. Friends say that during the first year her father was out of office, it was Julie who bucked up the family. Now she's the one who needs cheering up.

Jackie O' nude? A sex magazine publisher said he plans to put on sale calendars showing Jacqueline Onassis in the buff. Colin Heard claims the calendar contains "about 10" pictures, including a full frontal nude of the former first lady that was taken (without her knowledge) by a long-distance lens about three years ago when she was in Scorpius.

Mrs. Onassis flew to London last weekend to see her daughter Caroline who is studying art.

Heard said of the photographs, "They are not obscene photos. They are just full-frontal." The photos first ran in 1973 in the Italian magazine, "Playmen."

On Feb. 21, 1975, All-Star catcher Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds was married to Vickie Chesser in a lavish ceremony attended by about 1,000 people. Now the couple wants a divorce; Vickie Bench has moved to New York to resume her modeling career; and in Tampa, Fla., and other players are trying to settle the dispute between players and owners.
