

5 Peace Activists On Way to Hanoi

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Five American peace activists arrived from New York today and transferred to another plane for Bangkok, en route to Hanoi.

The group was headed by Tom Hayden of the Indo China Peace Campaign. Two others are going via Moscow.

Hayden said it is his understanding that the North Vietnamese invited them to establish "undistorted communications with the U.S. people" in order to give the American people a clear explanation of Hanoi's position and views.

Speculation that they were going to help in the release of U.S. prisoners of war was "a complete misunderstanding," he said.
