

Nixon May Omit Talk to Congress

Washington (AP) - For the second time [the first was in 1969], President Nixon may not deliver his State of the Union message to Congress in person.

Congressional sources said Thursday the President is expected instead to present broad outlines of his programs in his Jan. 20 inaugural address and follow up with a written message to Congress.

.....