

U.S. Boosts

Rate of Viet Withdrawal

Saigon (The Associated Press) — The number of American prisoners in Vietnam being repatriated to the United States has risen to 100,000, a 50 percent increase over the 66,000 repatriated in the first 10 months of the year, the U.S. military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the increase was due to the fact that the two sides have agreed to a new repatriation schedule. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of the year was 66,000, compared with 100,000 in the first 10 months of this year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The U.S. spokesman said a firm date has been set for the next American prisoner release. Associated Press

Guns Pour South

Report of Hanoi Arms Shipments

Washington (The Associated Press) — North Vietnam is sending more than 100 tons of arms and ammunition to South Vietnam, a U.S. military spokesman said today. He said the arms are being sent to South Vietnam as part of an offensive launched last Easter. He said the arms are being sent to South Vietnam as part of an offensive launched last Easter.

One day last week more than 1000 tons of arms were reported to have crossed the trail running south through Laos, at just one point, the spokesman said.

In addition to bombs and logistical supplies, the shipments since the cease-fire have included large quantities of served weapons, tanks and trucks, the spokesman said.

There is a widespread speculation in Hanoi that the shipments are part of a long-term preparation for another offensive to the south that forces to be built up in the region, the spokesman said.

On the other hand, Hanoi is facing the need to establish a strong presence in the south of the country, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.

The spokesman said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year. He said the number of prisoners repatriated in the first 10 months of this year was 100,000, compared with 66,000 in the first 10 months of last year.