

Returned POW Smashes Up His New Car

Paris, Tenn.

Air Force Major Robert Peel, a former prisoner of war in Vietnam, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and crashed his new $10,000 sports car into a utility pole early yesterday, the Tennessee Highway Patrol said.

Patrolmen said Peel was not seriously injured and was released from Henry County General Hospital after treatment. The car, an Italian-made Pantera, was wrecked.

Peel returned here two weeks ago and one of the first things he did was buy the car.
