

Ex-POW Wants U.S. to Sue

By JAMES SMITH

NEW YORK (AP)—James Mulligan, a former prisoner of war, said Friday he wants the U.S. government to sue the government of the anti-war Communist Prison With Families
Servicemen (Prison)
North Vietnam.

Mulligan charged that committee, he said in a Washington Post column
made available to news men, charges with the war. The committee Mulligan said "is a
the only one in the
which is not a prisoner of war."