

George Jackson's mother tried to see prison officials yesterday but was turned back, as all visitors were

A Protest in London Over Jackson's Death

London

About 150 young people protested outside the United States embassy last night over the shooting of George Jackson as he tried to escape from San Quentin.

The crowd, representing groups including the Black Panthers, black power, and Young Communists International, chanted slogans and waved banners.

There were no arrests.

Reuters