Body Found in Spain Thought to Be American

Once Jailed by Prague

By JOHN W. FINNEY Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11badly decomposed body was discovered in September in a gully in the southern Spanish countryside, thus apparently bringing to an end the life story of a Cambridge, Mass., travel agent once accused of espio-nage by Czechoslovakia.

The body was identified by spanish police as that of Vladi-mir Kazan-Komarek, a Czech-born American citizen who was seized by the Czechoslovak secret police in October 1966, when a Soviet airliner made an unscheduled stop in Prague.

He was charged with high treason and espionage, but then, after considerable diplomatic pressure by the United States, he was convicted by a Czechoslovak court of a lesser charge of subversive activities against Czechoslovakia and was expelled from the country.

Political Murder Doubted

papers in a billfold next to the body, bearing the name of

Associated Press Vladimir Kazan-Komarek

Vladimir Kazan-Komarek and a key fitting his apartment people and that he believed he had been working for "French intelligence."

In the last few years, he severed his relationship with Harvard Travel Service, and in 1945 and 1946 before returning to Czechoslovakia. He fled Czechoslovakia in 1948 after the Communist take-over, lived in Paris until 1953, and then came to the United States, where he married, became a citizen and was president the Harvard Trave.

A Flat on Spanish Coast He appeared in the Harvard Trave.

Estence:

cow sponsored by Intourist, the Soviet Government tourist agency, the Soviet airliner on which he was traveling — supposedly on a nonstop flight to Paris — made an unscheduled stop in Prague — for "mechanical reasons."

Mr. Kazan-Komarek was tak pilot safety and occasionally ferrying small planes to new owners.

On June 5, the United States consulate in Seville was informed by Samuel Berman, an American living in Estepona, that Mr. Kazan-Komerek had been missing since May 11.

Earlier Czechoslovak press reports, dating from 1951, had characterized Mr. Kazan-Kom-arek as an agent of United States Army Countries of the States of the St States Army Counterintelli-gence and had linked him to the Prague bureau of the Asso-ciated Press, which the Czecho-Komarek's death are still trickling into the State Department from its consulate in Seville. From all the information obtained thus far, however, it in a hillside gully on a fofficials—or to the Spanish police—that the dead man had been the victim of a cloak and-dager murder.

The judgment of the Spanish police, supported by a finding of a Spanish court in Marbella last month, was that he died "a natural death due to unknown reasons." The police reported that the body showed "no signs of violence."

The body was so badly decomposed, according to the Spanish police, that the cause of death as well as identity was difficult to establish. The only basis of identification used by the Spanish police was papers in a lillfold next to the body, bearing the name of Komarek works."

Komarek's death are still tricklone. The body was discovered on Spt. 7 in a hillside gully on a farm outside Estepona, as small ton the Mediters that the head been living since and the bedy for positive identified.

Farlier Charge Dropped During Mr. Kazan-Komarek's tate Department learned of the carly nineteen-fifties.

Earlier Charge Dropped During Mr. Kazan-Komarek's death and head the head been and American intelligence agent that the had been and American intelligence agent that the body suried after a perfunct or at the stepona, was that death had occurred two months earlier.

Some major details of his death had occurred two months earlier.

The body was so badly decomposed, according to the Spanish police, that the cates of the Spanish police, that the cates of the Spanish police, who had the been the victim of the Spanish police, who had the been the victim of the Spanish police, who had the bed was suggested that he had been linked to a French intelligence organization that was never identified.

After In the last the end of October that the early nineteen-fifties.

Earlier Charge Dropped

During Mr. Kazan-Komarek's death of the last the fearly nineteen-fifties.

Earlier Charge Dropped

During Mr. Kazan-Komarek's pertuent learned of t

where he married, became a Estepona, on the Mediterranean coast near Gibraltar, in Nothe Harvard Travel Service on Harvard Square in Cambridge.

On Oct. 31, 1966, when he was returning from a conference of travel agents in Mos-war. Kazan-Komarek was taken off the plane and charged by Czechoslovak authorities with setting up and operating an underground espionage and terrorist network in Czechoslovakia from 1948 to 1950 that was responsible for the death of a policeman.

Earlier Czechoslovak press reports, dating from 1951 had characterized and the missing since May 11.

About that time, Mr. Kazan-Komarek had been missing since May 11.

Komarek had been scheduled to make a trip to the United States with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Duncan, a Canadian couple living in Estepona.

The consulate discounted the missing-persons report filed by Mr. Berman after its proposition of the plane and charged by About that time, Mr. Kazan-Komarek had been missing since May 11.

States with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Duncan, a Canadian couple living in Estepona, that Mr. Kazan-Komarek had been missing since May 11.

States with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Duncan, a Canadian couple living in Estepona, that time, Mr. Kazan-Komarek had been missing since May 11.

States with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Duncan, a Canadian couple living in Estepona, that time, Mr. Kazan-Komarek had been missing since May 11.

States with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Duncan, a Canadian couple living in Estepona.

Body's Discovery Not Reported gence and had linked him to the Prague bureau of the Associated Press, which the Czechoslovak Government had charged was a center for espionage. William N. Oatis, the chief of the news service's bureau, was jailed for two years in Prague on espionage charges in the early nineteen-fifties.

BOGY'S DISCOVETY NOT REPORTED.

For reasons that the State Department cannot explain, the consulate also did not report the discovery of the body by the Spanish police in September. It was only after the Duncans wrote to Mrs. Kazan-Komarek at the end of October that the State Department learned of the death.

round near his body was a small empty bottle of aspirin. State Department officials said there was no indication that Mr. Kazan-Komarek might still have been involved in intelligence work, and they insisted he had not been employed by any United States intelligence agency.

Mrs. Kazan-Komarek, in a telephone interview, declined to discuss her husband's death. But on one point she was emphatic. When asked whether Mr. Kazan-Komarek might have been involved in intelligence work, she repiled: "Oh Lord, no!"