The Wa ton Merry-Go-Round

DEC 1 0 1973 THE WASHINGTON POST

Monday, Dec. 10, 1973 B17

How the CIA Snooped Inside Russia

By Jack Anderson

We have been accused of compromising an intelligence operation, perhaps even jeopardizing the life of an agent, inside the Soviet Union.

Let us set the record straight. More than two years ago, we were tipped off that the Central that he was suffering from the minutes to show that President Intelligence Agency had managed to eavesdrop on the pri- clinic for a massage. He menvate conversations of Kremlin tioned a masseuse named Olga. stan conflict. leaders. Some of the transcripts. we were told, were quite titillat-Soviet President, who apparing.

We checked out the story with a CIA source who had access to the transcripts. He confirmed that the CIA was intercepting the telephone traffic between already knew, he agreed, should zarre para-police unit whose the limousines of Soviet bigwigs.

Unfortunately, he said, they Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorny.

about their ailments. Their fa- can't give a clue as to how it's the Kremlin leaders knew their vorite limousine stop was a pri- done. But we can state categorivate clinic where they could get cally that for years the CIA has tored. But he pleaded with me other physical therapy. Brezhnev, who sometimes drinks too much vodka and suf- themselves.'

fers from hangovers, told Pod-"Olga! Oh ho!" chortled the ently was familiar with Olga.

Our source said the transcripts showed that the Kremlin chiefs were aware the CIA was listening to them. Anything they be safe for the American people to be told.

Therefore, it should do no didn't hold strategy sessions in harm to write about the eavestheir limousines. The CIA dropping operation, said our picked up small talk, however, source. He cautioned, however, which provided an insight into that the monitored conversathe personalities of the likes of tions didn't make clear whether party chief Leonid Brezhnev, the Soviet leaders had figured out how we did it.

We published a careful story The transcripts revealed that on Sept. 16, 1971, about the the eavesdropping operation in dent's claim of national security the Soviet leaders gossip about eavesdropping. "For obvious se-one another and complain curity reasons," we wrote, "we pers." He acknowledged that pins of the Kremlin banter, bicker and backbite among

The following December, we gorny in a typical conversation quoted from secret White House woes and would stop off at the Nixon had lied to Congress and the public about the India-Paki-

This brought the President's gumshoes down on our necks with a vengeance. No newsmen in Nixondom have ever received a more thorough goingover. The undercover work was done by the plumbers, the bioperatives ran around in CIA plumbers' wigs and committed foolish crimes.

The bewigged ones, among other things, began checking bugging. This aroused Richard invited me to lunch on March 17, 1972.

He asked me not to mention conversations had been monisteam baths, rubdowns and been able to listen to the king- to keep quiet and urged me particularly never to mention how the conversations were intercepted.

> Accordingly, I omitted the references from my book and left it to others to reveal the secret monitoring method. Not until today, after the limousine-listening operation had been widely publicized elsewhere have we mentioned how it was done.

Nevertheless, the White House has seized upon this affair to justify the President's claim of national security in the case.

This is strictly a red herring, which President Nixon hopes will distract the Watergate bloodhounds. The truth is that into our account of the Kremlin (1) the monitored Kremlin chitchat was never an important in-Helms, then the CIA chief, who telligence source; (2) our Sept. 16, 1971, story revealed nothing the Kremlin leaders didn't already know; and (3) the Presisimply won't wash.

°1973, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.