CORTION IS LAID HIGHES TH R _8 1975 FEB

Aide Says That $500,000 Is Demanded for Papers in Burglary Last June

By JAMES PHALEN Special to The New York Tim LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7-

middle-of-the-night burglary of Howard Hughes' headquarters here in 1974 is under intense investigation following a $500,-000 extortion demand made upon the Hughest organization. The money was demanded, according to a Hughes security agent, by men who say they have a large collection of con-fidential document stolen in

-- A

NYTIM

The agent said that Hughes organization dec The agent said that the Hughes organization decided not to negotiate because the material would probably be copied before it was returned. Salvage Accord Reported

He said the Los Angeles po-lice had been investigating the case since July. The Saturday edition of The Los Angeles Times reported

Los Angeles Times reported that the stolen documents dis-closed a "contract" between between the Central Intelligence Agency and the Hughes organization to help salvage a sunken Rus-sian submarine. The newspaper said that the alleged rescue ef-fort was to be made by the secret Glomar Explorer, a Hughes vessel intended for un-dersea mining Hughes vessel intended for un-dersea mining. Robert A. Maheu, the de-posed former Hughes execu-tive, testified in his recent defamation suit against Mr. Hughes that the billionaire re-peatedly importuned him to get a "connection" with the C.I.A. Mr. Maheu, who worked for the agency in the early nine-teen sixties, said he "wouldn't touch the proposal with a 40-touch the proposal with a 40-foot pole." The Hughes building is re-portedly equipped with a net-work of sophisticated elec-tronics security devices.

this burglary, see SFChronicle filed W/gate. 0 Jun 74,

*

For

story

of

the burglary. Sources close to the investigation describe the stolen docu-ments as containing "political dynamite" and information embarrassing to Government. Federal the Government. A spokesman for the Los Angeles police department re-fused to discuss the matter. "The District Attorney is go-

The District Attorney is go-ing to bring this case to a grand jury on Feb. 11 or 12," said Comdr. Pete Hagan, "and he has asked us to say nothing about the case." He said that all police files about the case." He said that all police files on the matter had been im-pounded, including the original burglary report. The Hughes headquarters, at 7020 Romaine Street, was broken into shortly after mid-night on June 5, 1974, by armed men who gained entry by add-ing a gun to a security guard as he made his rounds. The guard, Mike Davis, said that he "glimpsed" the men and thought there were four or five. thought there were four or five.

Left in Basement

Mr. Davis said he had been bound, gagged, blindfolded and left on a sofa in the basement of the large, two-story building that serves as communications headquarters for the reclusive millionaire.

The men then brought in acetylene equipment and burned open two safes, pried open two smaller filing safes and ran-sacked files and wesks. They spent four hours loot-ing the offices without disturb-ing other Hughes employes wh man the telephone cruit has a man the telephone switchboard on a 24-hour basis, Mr. Davis said. Shortly after they left, at 4:45 A.M., the guard said he freed himself and called the police. police.

Late last July, an anonymous caller telephoned the Hughes security agent and offered to return the documents for $500,-000. The documents were said to fill two large footlockers.