is in U.S. District Court, Tapes - Case/to be heard today in/Dallas, involving former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, John Osorio, former state insurance commissioner and four former business associates, charged with nine counts of mail fraud, stock fraud and filing false reports with SEC; defendants to ask that charges against them be dismissed. See story for details. Mitchell, Kleindienst, Gray and Petersen, "and a number of other Watergate figures" have been subpoenaed.

Osorio, joined by the other defendants, has filed a motion asking Judge W.M. Taylor to order Nixon or his "authorized representative" to appear and produce tapes of conversations between Nixon, Mitchell and Tower about the Texas investigation. Carr has filed a separate, similar subpoena. The conversations in question are alleged to have taken place at the White House 29 Jul 71. Defendants allege that CRP engineered an investigative and prosecution scheme designed to discredit Democrats and help assure reelection victories in Texas for Nixon and Sen. John Tower.

Mrs. Hunt's wallet, found when she was killed, contained the names of two Washington doctors, Dr. Gary Morris, a psychiatrist, and Dr. Marvin Korengold, a neurologist who ~~had~~ used hypnosis in his practice.

If Mrs. Hunt had consulted either doctor, there is no record of it. Dr. Morris and his wife disappeared Mar 72, apparently lost at sea in the Caribbean; his records and files contain no mention of Mrs. Hunt. Dr. Korengold says Mrs. Hunt was never a patient of his, and "If we could locate Mrs. Hunt's family doctor, he might clear up the mystery, but so far we haven't been able to."

Hunt should be able to provide the name of their family doctor, or any other treating Mrs. Hunt; photos could be shown Dr. Korengold, ~~if she had~~ used some other name, or since she might have shown to Dr. Morris' staff or the three other psychiatrists sharing same office suite. Dr. Morris and Dr. Korengold might have been recommended to Mrs. Hunt and she had no need to consult them. But it should be possible to locate her own doctor. AMP - A
