Weicker's minority report (to be included with final report by Ervin committee?) says, "We almost lost America ... to subversives, terrorists and extremists who operated in the White House. Evidence presented to this committee can and will demonstrate that every major substantive part of the Constitution was violated, abused and undermined during the Watergate period." Weicker's staff says the report lists at least 370 violations of the law and the Constitution by Nixon's administration and re-election committee. One sentence in the report detailing the violations runs 14 pages long.
