Korff, at press conference (in WX?), asks Americans, in the spirit of "peace on earth, goodwill to men," to leave Nixon alone; says if they do not, Nixon might die. "I state unequivocally that all these legislative, judicial and media actions literally emasculate Mr. Nixon. The genius of medicine could in no way repair the incalculable damage being inflicted on this man."

Korff calls for "the suspension of all civil suits, of all legal harassment" against Nixon.

Ⓐ- "State law prohibits public disclosure of any tax investigation, but Nixon partially waived that provision. Procaccino said the partial waiver prevented him from going into other specifics on the exact amount of the purchase price of the condominium, the profit made on the transaction, the name of the buyer and why the taxes were not paid in 1969."

Procaccino, "a national vice chairman of 'Democrats for Nixon' in 1972," says he assumed personal control of the Nixon tax investigation in early April and notified Nixon 6 Dec/^{of} what he owed the state.
