Liddy is interviewed for CBS television program, "60 Minutes" at some unspecified time; interview is broadcast today. Program's co-editor, Mike Wallace, says in introduction that Liddy had stipulated that he would make no comment on "substantive" matters; much of the program deals with Liddy's personal opinion of Nixon, Dean ("You'd have to put him right up there with Judas Iscariot") and others, and with Liddy's political views.

For an account of Liddy's appearance on this program, see SFEx 5 Jan 75. Earlier story on this program (WXP 20 Dec 74) reminds readers that Liddy has not previously made any public statements about Watergate.
