Nixon (on Watergate) - From Sunday magazine section, "This World":

"The New York Times quoted [Nixon] as saying he hoped to return to active participation in politics in perhaps two or three years, when 'my book will have established for the American people the fact that I was not the culprit but one of the victims of Watergate and that I have been unjustly vilified.'"

Story does not give date of NYT, and does not say when Nixon made this statement, or to whom. Not in file.

SF Sunday Examiner & Chronicle 16 Feb 75, "This World"

Nixon (GOP) - "A former Nixon administration cabinet officer whose friendship with the former President is still strong private grumbles: 'For the life of me, I can't understand Barry Goldwater anymore. He goes to see Nixon for a short time and comes away saying Dick might have a future in the Republican Party. Barry knows our friend is gone forever from power in the party. He's finished, kaput, and nobody knows it better than Dick. He knows he'd hurt us tremendously if he tried any kind of a comeback. God knows we're hurting enough.'"
