Richard A. Moore - Walter Scott, answering a question from a reader who said he had heard Moore was "Deep Throat," quotes Moore as saying, "I am not now nor have I ever been Deep Throat. I have never met, spoken to, or communicated with Bob Woodward in person or by phone, telegraph, mail or geranium."

The writer of the letter to Scott says Moore's lawyer when he testified at the Ervin hearings was Herbert J. Miller, now Nixon's lawyer.
