Nixon (Bob Considine) - Nixon gives the San Diego Union his comments on the death yesterday of Bob Considine. Wording of the story suggests this was at Nixon's initiative.

"In a telephone call to the San Diego Union, the former president recalled that 'Bob accompanied me on our historic visit to the People's Republic of China in 1972 and contributed a characteristically perceptive interpretation of that event. He will be remembered as one of the greatest journalists of the mid-20th Century,' Nixon said."

Marquis Childs, in interview, discusses his new book, "Witness to Power," apparently a compilation of his views of various political figures. Unnamed interviewer says that "[Child's] role has been to be a critic - sympathetic perhaps, but detached. Even so, Childs added he did have a suggestion for [Nixon]: 'I wish he'd be quiet and just write his memoirs - which I'm sure will not tell us much.'"

Jack Anderson, on over-reaction of Nixon WH to leaks: "What upset Nixon the most, according to our White House sources, was our revelation that ... Howard Hughes had sent two $50,000 cash bundles, one to Key Biscayne, the other to San Clemente, for Nixon's use in between his presidential campaigns. The money was accepted by ... Rebozo."
