

Watergate Chronology

Jenifer White undertook this chronology as the least impracticable device for retrieval when it became apparent the case was proliferating into thousands of names and official entities -- far beyond the means of two people, one of whom still was working full time, to card index and maintain such an index.

It covers the period from 17 June 1972 through 30 April 1975, subject to her exceptions listed on the other side of this sheet.

When it became apparent she no longer could maintain it, she began saving the NY Times news index (daily only) which at least begins to indicate the main news stories of each day (as discerned by the editors of the Times). This runs from 9 February 1974 through October 1977, at which time, shortly after her death, the subscription ran out and was not renewed.
