

The Major Events of the Day

International
 American officials in Damascus said that Secretary of State Kissinger virtually resolved all the major issues holding up the Syrian-Israeli troop-separation accord, but some other last-minute snags developed, threatening further delay on a final agreement. American officials, Syrian leaders and the newsmen who have followed the Secretary on his peace mission were all expressing uncertainty over whether he would complete the accord he has sought so diligently. Mr. Kissinger made his 12th and possibly final trip to Damascus. [1:8.]

Efforts of Yitzhak Rabin, Israel's Premier-designate, to put together a new coalition government are being jeopardized by bitter factional rivalries within the ruling Labor party over the distribution of Cabinet posts. The rivalries are prolonging the country's political stalemate. There is a possibility that Mr. Rabin will fail and new elections will be necessary, but most Israeli politicians regard this as remote. Mr. Rabin has until tomorrow to establish a new government, but the deadline can be extended. [3:1-2.]

The Greek military officers who six months ago toppled the regime of President George Papadopoulos today have hardly any visible public support. A former politician said: "Papadopoulos at least had made 5 or 10 per cent of the people. This government has nobody." But experts see little prospect for change. [1:7-8.]

Northern Ireland's coalition government of Roman Catholics and moderate Protestants, established five months ago, showed increasing signs of tension under the strike with which extremist Protestants hope to bring down the government. Prime Minister Wilson interrupted a long weekend to discuss the worsening situation with Merlyn Rees, the British Secretary of State for Northern Ireland. [3:1-3.]

National
 Using unusually grim language about the inflation problem, but disclosing no changes in policy, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said that "the future of our country is in jeopardy" if the recent rate of inflation is not moderated. In a commencement address at Illinois College at Jacksonville, Ill., he also gave a cautious endorsement to public-service jobs to offset unemployment that would result from a policy of "continued resistance to swift growth in money and credit." [1:7.]

"All men in this nation are subject to the rule of law," said Chesterfield Smith, head of the American Bar Association, who had joined the growing number of political and public figures of both parties in urging President Nixon to comply with the decision of the courts on whether he must surrender several dozen subpoenaed tape recordings to the special Watergate prosecutor. [1:4.]

In Arkansas, the central figure in the Democratic primary tomorrow is the Governor, Dale Bumpers, who is challenging J. William Fulbright for his seat in the Senate. Governor Bumpers' popularity will be pitted against the record of Senator Fulbright, who is facing the danger of defeat and the end of his 30-year career in the Senate. Mr. Bumpers' attraction appears to be his fresh image of the common man in politics. [2:1-4.]

Stewart Alsop, a columnist for Newsweek magazine, died at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., where he was being treated for cancer of the bone marrow. A book he had written about his fight against cancer, "Stay of Execution," was recently published. He was 60 years old. [20:2.]

Metropolitan

Vice President Ford, who was in New York to dedicate a new building at Mount Sinai Medical Center, expressed the "hope and belief" that a national health-insurance plan would be enacted this year, and he said that the Government was increasing efforts to hold down "skyrocketing" health-care costs. He dedicated Mount Sinai's $117-million Annenberg Building, named for the late Mrs. Moses L. Annenberg of Philadelphia, whose son, Walter H. Annenberg, Ambassador to Britain, and seven daughters gave $12-million toward the building's cost, to which the state and Federal Government also contributed. [1:1-3.]

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said that he would seek criminal prosecutions against unlicensed, unregulated and deceptive apartment-referral services to which apartment-hunters in New York have paid $1-million in fees in the last year. The services' apartment listings, state officials say, are often outdated, erroneous or taken from newspaper advertisements. [1:1-2.]

The Other News

International
 Questions and answers on India's atomic test. Page 2
 Giscard stresses simplicity for inauguration today. Page 2
 Iran seeks aid for atomic power plants. Page 2
 Soviet increases penalties in drug cases. Page 2
 Chinese banquets give clues to power puzzle. Page 2
 Luxembourg returns show ruling party loss. Page 2
 Communists in Portugal widen power base. Page 3
 Leftists demand Lisbon free Cuban officer. Page 3
 Syrians bomb Israeli positions in salient. Page 3
 Mexico offers family-planning services. Page 4
 Belgium and Zaire curb special ties. Page 5
 Ontario curbs land sales to foreigners. Page 7

Government and Politics
 Navy and Air Force undergo costly upgrading. Page 1
 Law agency chief upset by Watergate. Page 2
 48% in poll back Nixon's removal. Page 2
 Ford says he warned Nixon on tapes. Page 22
 Carey says Samuels camp spreads rumors. Page 34

Energy
 As oil shortages subside, new problems emerge. Page 23

General
 Pipeline workers enjoy comforts in wilds. Page 1
 Salt-water catches beckon subway anglers. Page 19
 Expo link to racketeering stirs concern. Page 33

Industry and Labor
 U.S. miners oppose importation of coal. Page 32
 Two maritime unions agree to discuss merger. Page 32

Education and Welfare
 Busing dispute intensifies in Boston. Page 20
 Old Westbury College students tear expansion. Page 21
 Ouster controversy resolved at Georgetown. Page 34

Health and Science
 Steam auto first on pollution rules. Page 32
 New use is found for old drug. Page 32
 Story of poor, deaf woman, 18, is told. Page 34
 Amusements and the Arts
 Falco dancers offer "Speeds" pieces at Tully Hall. Page 8
 Jazz Repertory revisits 52d Street. Page 8
 Staudes face daily ritual with many a laugh. Page 9
 "Scaphno" star describes antics of the play. Page 9
 Arts council warns it isn't in subsidy business. Page 10
 "The Denial of Death" by Becker, reviewed. Page 15
 Goldberger appraises Mount Sinai addition. Page 15

Going Out Guide Page 9
About New York Page 10
Family/Style
 Ex-drug addicts prepare to re-enter society. Page 18
 A husbands-and-wives crafts show. Page 18
 A computer dating service for Jews only. Page 18

"I think he has given us a lesson that it's not enough to be right and be convinced that we are right, but to reach a point where we can live with the people in our area—not to accept things that are not right, but at least to understand them."—Golda Meir, toasting Secretary of State Kissinger. [3:4.]

Health and Science
 Steam auto first on pollution rules. Page 32
 New use is found for old drug. Page 32
 Story of poor, deaf woman, 18, is told. Page 34
 Amusements and the Arts
 Falco dancers offer "Speeds" pieces at Tully Hall. Page 8
 Jazz Repertory revisits 52d Street. Page 8
 Staudes face daily ritual with many a laugh. Page 9
 "Scaphno" star describes antics of the play. Page 9
 Arts council warns it isn't in subsidy business. Page 10
 "The Denial of Death" by Becker, reviewed. Page 15
 Goldberger appraises Mount Sinai addition. Page 15

Going Out Guide Page 9
About New York Page 10
Family/Style
 Ex-drug addicts prepare to re-enter society. Page 18
 A husbands-and-wives crafts show. Page 18
 A computer dating service for Jews only. Page 18

Business and Financial
 Milk coop to continue political role. Page 23
 Eximbank's Soviet business is halted. Page 23
 United States may sail in bi-centennial. Page 23
 Machine-tool orders rose during April. Page 23
 Toyota's sales declining in U.S. Page 23
 Soviet hydroelectric dam suffers setbacks. Page 23
 Personal Finance: Savings banks' "checks." Page 24

Sports
 Rutherfordford captures Indy 500, Bobby Unser is 2d. Page 11
 Yankees conquer Orioles by 6-5 and 7-5 here. Page 11
 Mets score four runs in 9th to win, 5-3. Page 11
 Souvenirs, memories all that remain from Indy. Page 11
 Gary Player takes Memphis golf by 2 strokes. Page 11
 Peterson wins Grand Prix of Monaco in Lotus. Page 11
 Pearson triumphs in World 600 car race. Page 12
 Lolich hurts Tigers to a 2-1 victory over Indians. Page 13
 U.S. players get day off in Italian tennis. Page 13
 Forego heads field of 8 today at Belmont. Page 14
 Florida yacht Dynamite takes Block Island race. Page 14
 Amputee from Tennessee star of Seamanco game. Page 14
 Cosmos tie Napoli, 2-2, on late rally. Page 14

Man in the News
 Johnny Rutherford 3d, winner of Indy 500. Page 12

Editorials and Comment
 Editorials and Letters. Page 16
 Anthony Lewis warns of a legal quagmire. Page 17
 William Safire foresees a dangerous precedent. Page 17
 Mary E. Mebdans on prospects for black artists. Page 17
 Harry Weber on God as chief portfolio manager. Page 17
 Susan Moger appraises the end of a party. Page 17

News Analysis
 John Herbers on Nixon's anti-defense strategy. Page 22
 Frank Lynn assays Democratic race for Governor. Page 34

Don't miss a trick!
 See the bridge column every day in The New York Times.