A Boston Woman's $15,000 Pays for Ohio Antiwar Ads

Special to The New York Times

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 23—
A 47-year-old suburban Boston sculptress and mother of five has paid out $15,000 of her ing on the hotel door, Mrs. own money to start a flood of stop-the-bombing mail rolling toward the White House from Middle America.

Mrs. Kay Worden of Weston "I'd estimate that the score is combined circulation of more sachusetts. than 1.5 million.

against the war. There is little Technology.

I can do in my town.
"But in your town, maybe there is something I can do.

People Phone In

the occasion, Mrs. either today or tomorrow.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 23- In an interview that was con-

Middle America.

Mrs. Kay Worden of Weston,
Mass., selected Ohio for her one-woman crusade because, think what I am doing is sim"from what I heard, Ohio represents a lot of support for President Nixon and for the Nixon war policy."

She arranged for full-page antiwar ads to appear today in 12 Ohio newspapers with a suggested she go back to Mas-

in 12 Ohio newspapers with a suggested she go back to Mas-

In the ads, Mrs. Worden says, "Where I come from, Boston Mass almost everybody is Massachusetts Institute of the Massachusetts Institute of

She said she had never before spent $15,000, the cost of Maybe I can persuade you, a the advertising, on anything likely friend of the President "aside from a house" but that likely friend of the President, it was her own inherited money to write him a note." and her husband approved of her cause.

Mrs. Worden grew up in Worden flew to Ohio and is Tarrytown, N. Y., and majored staying in a Columbus hotel, in art while attending Sarah answering responses to a post-Lawrence College. She said script in the ads suggesting that as a sculptress she had that people give her a call had shows in the United States and abroad.

See also this file 18 Aug 72.