

Kleindienst Talks of Crime Fight

[Story on Kleindienst speech at luncheon meeting of Marin County Bar Association (site not given), 29 Sep 72.]

Attorney General Richard Kleindienst, sidestepping questions about the Watergate bugging incident, declared yesterday that four more years under President Nixon will reduce crime in America "to just an irritant."

.....

The attorney general refused ... to discuss the Watergate case, contending that a motion now pending before a U.S. District Court in Washington precluded him from making any comments about the case.

The above two paragraphs opened and closed the story, which dealt with other points made in Kleindienst's speech.