Watergate News Spurs Wave of Stock Buying

By TERRY ROBARDS

A surge of buying moved into the market yesterday morning shortly after reports circulated that several high-level figures in the Nixon Administration were resigning in connection with the Watergate affair.

The Dow-Jones industrial average was down 9.86 points at 11:30 A.M. Moments later, news wires carried reports of the impending resignations and the market rallied sharply, apparently on the theory that the scandal finally was being resolved.

By 1 P.M. the Dow was in plus territory and it traded in a narrow range for the balance of the afternoon, closing at 921.43, down 0.76 point for the session. Declining stocks outnumbered gainers, 826 to 596, indicating that the general market was decisively lower.

Nevertheless, the morning rally came as an optimistic sign following a week in which the D-J had toppled 41.01 points and the clouds of gloom had thickened over Wall Street.

Stocks and Scandals

Analysts have repeatedly contended that the Watergate scandal was not a factor in the stock market's behavior because it lacked economic significance. But yesterday's market turnaround implied that the scandal's psychological impact on the investment atmosphere may have been underestimated.

The theory gaining strength now is that resolution of the Watergate matter will enable the Nixon Administration to devote its energies once more to the state of the economy, where the pace of inflation has been the paramount concern of investors.

Trading volume on the New York Stock Exchange accelerated after the President said he had accepted the resignations of John D. Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, his two top White House aides; had requested and accepted the resignation of John W. Dean 3d as White House counsel and had received the resignation of Richard G. Kleindienst as Attorney General.

Turnover Slackens

Turnover slackened, however, following the disclosure that the President planned to address the nation on television last night. Obviously, investors were electing to await the contents of the President's message before making further commitments.

At the close, 14.82 million shares had changed hands on the Big Board, up from 13.73 million Friday, but still moderate by most standards. Virtually all of the increase occurred between 11:30 A.M. and 1 P.M., when the Watergate news was breaking.

The volume leader was Gulf Oil, down 1/2 at 25, on mas-

Exxon and Phillips Weak

After the close, Gulf said in a statement that it knew of no reason for the decline in its stock, except for the fact that the issue became ex-dividend on the quarterly payment due June 7 to holders of record May 4.

Two other petroleum stocks, Exxon and Phillips, were actively traded and weak. Exxon, which touched a high of 103 3/4 last week before being hit by profit taking, slid 1 1/2 yesterday and closed at 96 1/4. Phillips fell 1 3/8 to 44 3/4.

I.T.T. remained soft, losing a point and closing at 32 as the second most-active stock. It had dropped 2 3/4 last week and 6 1/8 the week before, following the disclosure of the company's efforts to block the election of a Marxist government in Chile in 1970.

The gold stocks were strong again, reflecting improving earnings and speculation on further increases in the price of the yellow metal. Dome Mines climbed 1 1/2 to 88 3/4 after reporting a sharp first-quarter earnings gain and rising its dividend.

Campbell Red Lake Gains

Campbell Red Lake shot up 3 to 61. After the close, the company announced plans to pay an extra 5-cent quarterly dividend on top of its regular quarterly payout. American South African rose 1 3/4 to 72 1/4 and Homestake Mining moved up 3/8 to 41 3/4.

A. H. Robins, trading for the first time since last Thursday, tumbled 5 1/2 points and closed at 59 1/2. It was announced prior to the trading halt that the Food and Drug Administration had proposed removing one of the company's antihistamine products from the market.

Surveyor Fund announced plans to merge with the Eberstadt Fund and Surveyor stock moved up 2 1/4 to close at 21 3/4. Surveyor would be converted to open-end status, meaning that its shares would be continuously offered and redeemable at net asset value. Closed-end funds traditionally have sold at discounts from net asset value.
