Martha Mitchell Testifies in Civil Suit

By CHARLOTTE CURTIS

Mrs. John N. Mitchell, clutching a Bible, said again yesterday that she trusted and prayed that her husband, the former Attorney General, was not guilty of wrongdoing in the Watergate affair.

She told reporters after giving her first sworn testimony in the case that Mr. Mitchell "has always assured me that he has not been involved." If he was, she said, in answer to another question, "I didn't know it."

"I trust and I pray to God" that he was not, she said.

Mrs. Mitchell spoke from the steps of the West End Avenue offices of Henry B. Rothblatt, lawyer for James W. McCord Jr., the convicted Watergate conspirator.

Asked if news reports of the case jibed with her supposed knowlødge of what she had called "that dirty business," she answered, "Very well."

Her testimony, a deposition in connection with the Democrats' $6.4-million civil suit against officials of the commit-wi.

The New York Times/Barton Silverman

Continued on Page 18, Column 2 Mrs. John N. Mitchell leaves home on way to testify

Martha Mitchell Testifies in Civil Suit

peated much of what she has already told reporters in telephone conversations. There apparently was little that would shed new light on the case.

"You know I've never really swear on a dictionary," she known anything about the said.

"I wouldn't want to have to known anything about the said.

"I wouldn't want to have to known anything about the said.

"I'm Not Worrying'

paign because "Mr. President was going to be re-elected anyway." She described the California episode in which she was thrown to the floor and stuck with a hypodermic needle. She added the name of Jeb Stuart Magruder, a former special assistant to President Nixon, to the list of people she has said she "suspected" all along "I wanted him fired from the beginning," she said.

Mr. Rothblatt said her testimony was "interesting," but "not very helpful to the case itself."

"She indicated she had no gring proposals were discussed."

In recent weeks, particularly into the hands of God," she said. Mrs. Mitchell is a Presbysaid. Mrs. Mitchell is a Presbysaid. Said. Mrs. Mitchell is a Presbysaid. Mrs. Mitchell says, "I'm a Southern girl at heart." She drinks enormous amounts of Coca-Cola. "I' guess I had two or three during the testimony," she said with a laugh.

The scandal surrounding Mr. Mitchell does not seem to have changed 11-year-old Marty Mitchell's routine. She has gone to school as usual. During spring vacation, she vistending meeting at which bugging proposals were discussed."

Mrs. Mitchell is a Presbysaid. Wrs. Mitchell says, "I'm a Southern girl at heart." She drinks enormous amounts of Coca-Cola.

"I' guess I had two or three during the testimony," she said with a laugh.

The scandal surrounding Mr. Mitchell so not seem to have changed 11-year-old Marty Mitchell's routine. She has gone to school as usual. During spring vacation, she vistending meeting at which bugging proposals were discussed.

He added that at the start of her deposition, Mrs. Mitchell Since mid-March, she has asked that there be no questions that might violate the changed at least three times. husband-wife relationship. Her request was granted.

"She take the start of the start

"She testified freely, articulately and was her own usual charming self," he said.

"She testified freely, articulation, a former reporter.

Mrs. McLendon, flating that she had acted in the said.

Comments About City

In private conversations, Mrs.

Continued From Page 1, Col. 2 Then, when they shouted questions at her, pushing and shoving so she couldn't get to the sidewalk, she looked disschool days sorority sister her pleased. pleased.

"You know I've never really swear on a dictionary," she known anything about the Watergate case," she told The New York Times late in a telephone interview. "But I'm glad its all coming out. It's like a law office "that one time they breath of relief—a breath of fresh air."

Suspicious of Magruder

While sipping Cokes, she told the lawyers of her efforts to get her husband out of the campaign because "Mr. President was going to be re-elected anyway." She described the California episode in which she was formal episode in which she was the waterian. She often goes to Marble heart." She drinks enormous on a dictionary," she said.

Mrs. Mitchell's days seem to focus on the odds and ends of getting a vast new household together and talking with her friends. She has, she said yesterday, "been very busy."

"But I'm not worrying and together and talking with her friends. She has, she said yesterday, "been very busy."

"But I'm not worrying and I'm never nervous," she told the humor despite the sadness of it all."

"I really have put everything thing of a ritual in the Mitchell bousehold, and it often includes grits, because, as Mrs. Mitchell says, "I'm a Southern girl at fornia episode in which she was the said.

"I'm Not Worrying'

Mrs. Mitchell's days seem to focus on the odds and ends of getting a vast new household together and talking with her friends. She has, she said yesterday, "been very busy."

"But I'm not worrying and I'm ered to focus on the odds and ends of getting a vast new household together and talking with her friends. She has, she said yesterday, "been very busy."

"But I'm not worrying and I'm ered to focus on the odds and ends of getting a vast new household together and talking with her friends. She has, she said yesterday, "been very busy."

"But I'm not worrying and I'm ered to focus on the odds and ends of getting a vast new household together and talking with her friends. She has, she said yesterday."

"But I'm self together and talking together and talking together and talking together and itself."

"She indicated she had no knowledge either before or after other than what she read,"

"In recent weeks, particularly since her husband admitted attending meeting at which bugging proposals were discussed, Mrs. Mitchell has avoided the press.

Phone Number Changed

Mrs. McLendon, flatly denying that she had acted in any capacity other than "a close friend and a writer doing Martha's book," has visited the Mitchells' apartment frequently once spending the

In private conversations, Mrs. Mitchell also complained again about New York City. She said "something should be done about the city," which is one of here favorite themes, and suggested, as she has in the past, that she might be persuaded to run for Mayor.

When she arrived at Mr. Rothblatt's offices, she had to push her way through a relentless crowd of "my friends, the press."

"Hello, everybody," she cried, as reporters and photographers rushed her blue limousine.

school days sorority sister has Although a transcript was not immediately available Mrs. Mitchell's house you're throwing so many questions at me I can't answer."

She was also been Mrs. Mitchell's house guest recently. Another old friend, from the days before peated much of what she has