

Nation's

Double

Crisis

Washington

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said yesterday the Watergate scandal and a shaken economy has plunged the Nation into a "crisis of conscience and a crisis of confidence."

"Devastating things have happened to the central institutions of this Nation," Mansfield said. "The trust of the people in Government is deeply disturbed and furious storms are gathering."

Mansfield said in the present crisis, the people are looking to Congress for assurance. United Press
