

Clean Sweep Of Justice

Washington

The House judiciary committee is planning a sweeping investigation of the Justice department to end "the climate that allowed Watergate," sources close to the committee told Newsday yesterday.

The sources said the inquiry will range from "the influence of big business" on Justice department decisions to the use of wiretaps by the FBI.

Newsday Service
