
Nixon Gets Advice
From 8-Year-Old

Reuter

Amid roars of laughter from his listeners in the Rose Garden, President Nixon yesterday read a letter sent to him at the hospital by eight-year-old John James of Livermore, Calif., who told him "I heard you were sick with pneumonia. I just got out of the hospital yesterday with pneumonia and I hope you did not catch it from me.

"Now you be a good boy and eat your vegetables like I had to. If you take your medicine and your shots, you'll be out of the hospital in eight days like I was.

"Love, John W. James the third."
