Excerpts From Testimony of Strachan

WASHINGTON, July 23— Following are excerpts from the transcript of testimony by Gordon C. Strachan today on the 26th day of hearings on the Watergate case before the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Ac-tivities. tivities.

MORNING SESSION

MR. DASH: Mr. Strachan, in your statement [last Fri-day] you indicated that you were staff assistant to Mr. Haldeman. Will you please tell us prior to that position what position you hold?

what position you held? MR. STRACHAN: Yes, I did. From Aug. 3, 1970 until December, 1970, I was also staff assistant under Mr. Klein. I technically reported to Mr. Magnuder

Klein. I technically reported to Mr. Magruder. Q. What were your duties at that time? A. Well, I was originally recruited to be what was called a project manager. Particular issues would be assigned to one junior staff man and one senior staff man. For example, in the 1970 elec-tion the economy issue was tion the economy issue was assigned to Mr. Safire as the senior man, and I was the junior staff assistant on that project.

Q. Prior to your position at the White House, this last position that you stated, where were you employed? A. I practiced law in New York for two years with the law firm Mudge, Rose, Guthrie & Alexander.

Q. Is that the same law firm with which Mr. Mitchell was associated as a partner?

A. Yes, sir. Q. And it is also the same law firm with which Presi-dent Nixon was associated one time as a partner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Could you then again give us your duties as staff assistant to Mr. Haldeman? A. Well, the duties changed A. Well, the duties changed slightly over the course of the two years I worked for Mr. Haldeman. When I first began work I was assigned an office on the third floor of the Executive Office Building, and my responsibilities for the first couple of months were to get all the polling files of the office, which were extensive, in order.

Personal Staff Assistant

Eventually I became for a certain amount of time the personal staff assistant, that is, I would prepare all the papers that would be going to Mr. Haldeman, put them in the correct foldow be the sec the correct folders, be the ac-tion, F.Y.I., personal, as well as the material that was go-ing to the President that Mr. Haldeman would want to review. I prepared those in folders and took those in to Mr. Haldeman twice, usually at noon and then at the end of the day at six. Q. What were you duties of the day at six. Q. What were you duties really during the period from January, 1972, to June 17, 1973, and thereafter? A. Well, we shifted Mr. Haldeman's office, shifted location, and moved into the staff secretary complex offices and from Jan. •1 through the election my primary duties were in the area of polling and in the area of political data bank. O. And. of course, during

Q. And, of course, during that time, I think you have stated that you served as the liaison between the White House and I take it specifical-ly Mr. Haldeman and the Committee to Re-elect the President. A! It is correct to say I served as the liaison between Mr. Haldeman and the committee.

Q. And information that you received from the com-mittee, and I take, was that primarily from Mr. Magruder?

Haldeman's Activities

A. Well, I received infor-mation from Mr. Magruder, and also from many of the other people on the staff. Mr. Haldeman's particular inter-ests were advertising and polling and I dealt directly with those senior people in those two areas. I also dealt with the people in the politi-cal area in order to acquire as much information as I could. Mr. Haldeman had a well-deserved reputation as a very, very tough staff man, A. Well, I received inforvery, very tough staff man, and there were constant pressures to perform well, and I worked very hard. Q. Could you tell us some-thing about Mr. Haldeman's activities and how he ad-ministered the office, how he ran his how the performed ran his, how he performed his role?

Q. Well, Mr. Haldeman is a Q. Well, Mr. Haldeman is a very organized individual. He had a system, for example, on this telephone where lights would indicate whether he was in his office, not to be disturbed or in the President's office or if he would push a green light which would light up one of his personal aide's phones, then that would be your opportunity to take a your opportunity to take a matter in to him if you thought it was important enough to bother him.

I would spend as little time as possible in there, not to waste his time. I don't know what else you, want.

Q. Aside from your own statement that he had passion for the facts, that he was a well-organized person what was his relationship with other staff members, as staff director, for instance what was his relationship with Mr. Ehrlichman?

Ehrlichman? A. Well, he had known Mr. Ehrlichman for a long time. They, I presume were close friends. They played tennis together, they had direct phone lines to each other. They would walk in and out of each other offices, I would characterize it as a very characterize it as a very close relationship.

Q. And, to your knowl-edge, would it be fair to say that they communicated fre-quently with each other and that if Mr. Haldeman had im-portant information he would be knowing Mr. Ebeliah that If Mr. Haldeman had im-portant information he would be keeping Mr. Ehrlich-man informed? A. I don't know that is a matter of fact but I would surely as-sume that.

Higby and Haldeman

Q. What was Mr. Higby's relationship with Mr. Haldeman?

Man? A. Well, Mr. Higby had worked for Mr. Haldeman for. I believe, four or five years before I joined the White House staff. His title, as distinguished from mine as staff assistant was administrative assistant. He was the senior personal aide to Mr. Haldeman. I think they had a very close personal relationship and personal friendship, spent a lot of social time together.

Q. What was Mr. Halde-man's role with regard to the campaign itself?

the campaign itself? A. Well, Mr. Haldeman was obviously quite inter-ested in the campaign. He would express his views as to the way certain things would be done. In particular, he insisted upon clearing, that is personally approving by initial every piece of ad-vertising, be it radio, TV, bumper strip, whatever that went out from the commit went out from the committee.

Q. And would it be fair to say that on many important issues of the committee that these issues would be communicated to Mr. Haldeman for his approval, actions of the committee?

A. No, not all matters would be communicated for action. He had very little in-terest, for example, in what terest, for example, in what the field organization would be doing. I would advise him on an FYI basis of who had been selected to head the campaigns in the various states but he showed very little interest in that.

Intrie interest in that. Q. When you made your reports to Mr. Haldeman, especially those reports that came from the committee, could you briefly tell us but in some detail what kind of reports did you make, how did you report to Mr. Halde-man?

Political Memos

A. Well, usually once a week or once every two week or once every two weeks, memoranda entitled, "Political Matters Memos." These memoranda would summarize the information that I had accumulated from the politically active people on the White House staff, Mr. Colson, Mr. Dent, infor-mation I had accumulated from 1701 [Pennsylvania Avenue, CREP headquarters]

Senate Watergate Before the Committee from the various state or-ganizations, he had quite an interest,

He had quite an interest He had quite an interest in California so I would talk with the California people, and then I would write a memorandum usually quite long, eight; nine, 10 pages, with several attachments as back-up. The main purpose of attaching the tabs would be that I would refer in the paragraphs to information paragraphs to information that I thought he should read in the original form, and would attach it as a tab. Q. Were some of your communications in an oral form rather than in a memo-randum form?

A. He prefers to com-municate in writing. Of course, I would have oral communications with him but the great bulk of infor-mation that he received from me regarding the campaign me régarding the campaign would be in writing. Q. All right, now, when he received from you a political matter memorandum with the working it may in with the various items in-dicated, and the tabs, how would he respond to you concerning those items that concerning those items that were brought to his atten-tion by you? A. Well, he would always read with a pen and he would write his comments beside them or check the item as he read each par-ticular paragraph ticular paragraph. Q. In instances, I take it, you would be given or at least indications from him as to what he wanted to do to follow up on various matters?

Cryptic Comments

A. Well, usually, his com-ments on the side would be cryptic and humorous. If he had a disagreement as to the way things were being done at the committee, he would at the committee, he would send a memorandum to John Mitchell or on occasion to Jeb Magruder, or make a note to me that I should contact a particular indi-vidual about something. Q. Now, when he wanted to have a meeting with somebody, would you prepare any particular paper with regard to that meeting? A. Yes. I would prepare what would be characterized what would be characterized as a talking paper. Q. Now, do you recall whether Mr. Magruder gave you any information con-cerning an intelligence plan prior to March 30, 1972? A. No he did not violation of the second second

A. No, he did not. Mr. Magruder relies on the fact that, automatically, materials would have come over to me. In-The Federal Bureau of vestigation has established that that is not true. Ma-terials do not automatically come over to me. Q. How did the Federal Bureau of Inves-tigation establish that that is not true?

Some Data Withheld

A. They interviewed several of his secretaries and people in his office and they indiin his office and they indi-cated that matters were not always sent to Mr. Strachan or to the White House, that they would be held back at the express direction of Mr. Magruder. Q. Would it be true that important matters, matters of significance, would be sent over to you, and would you not agree that a plan such as the so-called Lddy plan to engage in electronic surveil-lance for political intelligence engage in electronic surveil-lance for political intelligence was a significant matter? A. Obviously, that is a sig-nificant matter, but I think Mr. Magruder probably relied upon the fact that John Dean was present at the meeting to report to the appropriate peo-

Q. Could you tell us at this point about that separate re-lationship? What was Mr.

Dean's relationship with Mr. Haldeman as apart from your relationship?-A. Well, Mr. Dean had line responsibility as distinguished from mine of staff responsi-bility. He would have a cer-tain amount of independent authority and would function on projects of his. own and report to Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman on matters on which he needed guidance. O. All right now. If Mr.

On which he needed guidance. Q. All right, now. If Mr. Dean attended an important meeting as the one we have already had ample testimony about, the Feb. 4 meeting in Mr. Mitchell's office, the Jan. 27 meeting in the first in-stance and the Feb. 4 meet-ing 1072 in the second in ing, 1972, in the second in-stance, would it be likely or actually, would you expect that Mr. Dean would, in fact, report that meeting to Mr. Haldeman?

A. Yes, I would think so, because Mr. Dean was aware of the interest over the six months previous, interest in political intelligence, and Mr. Dean has testified he re-ported to Mr. Haldeman about that meeting.

Political Intelligence

Q. Well, what was Mr. Haldeman's interest in political intelligence in the past? A. Well, it was a subject that I was expected to raise in talking papers and to period-ically follow up with John Dean to see that certain in-dividual projects were on track.

Q. Were you aware of a particular interest Mr. Hal-deman had in political mat-ters, intelligence matters? A. Well, he was particularly in-terested in the area of political intelligence and in-formation about Senator Kennedy.

nedy. Q. Now, you say that Mr. Dean would, to your expec-tation, report this meeting— in fact, did report this meet-ing. Could you give us a little more description, to your knowledge, of Mr. Dean's relationship to you and to other members of the staff? How did he carry out his responsibilities in making reports and giving factual in-formation to various mem-bers of the White House? A. Well, as I say, he had line responsibility, a certam number of staff people under him. He handled conflict of interest matters, would usu-ally have an opinion as to what stand the President should take on legislation, and so forth. My role on Mr. Haldeman's personal staff was to follow up with John Dean on certain matters that he was working with for him. The best example is when John Dean was working on the President's estate plan. He would prepare memoranda addressed to Mr. Haldeman and to Mr. Ehrlichmemoranda addressed to Mr. Haldeman and to Mr. Ehrlich-man, and I would have a chance to look over those memoranda, but they would go in their original state.

Dean's Memory Cited

Q. But would Mr. Dean share generally with you the information that he would give to other members of the White House staff, Mr. Halde man or Mr. Ehrlichman or others? others?

A. No, not necessarily. Mr. Dean had a remarkable facility, almost that of a litigator, ity, almost that of a hugator, to remember facts and to keep track of which facts which staff members, knew or should be informed about.

Q. Would you say that, over what period of time that you experienced this remarkable quality of Mr. Dean to recollect and also to separate out who was to receive what facts?

A. Well, I observed that the whole time I was on the White House staff. Whatever the particular subject would be on the President's estate plan, he could keep track plan, he could keep track of who was handling which tax returns, which people should have access to which parts of which tax returns, very tough questions of fact and internal politics. But, most particularly, during the summer of 1972, for example, when he interviewed me regarding Segretti, he had interviewed both me and Chapin, both of us knew something about the subject, yet John Dean was able to keep which of us knew what perfectly straight.

straight. Q. Well, you also said that you believe he probably told Mr. Haldeman (about the Jan. 27 and Feb. 4 meetings) be-cause he has testified that he told Mr. Haldeman. Is that based on your opinion or knowledge of Mr. Dean when he makes a statement, whether that is a true state-ment? A. Well, I have con-fidence in John Dean's abil-ity to state the facts as he recalls them. Q. And your knowledge of recalls them. Q. And your knowledge of John Dean's relationship with Mr. Haldeman. would lead you to what conclusion con-cerning his giving Mr. Halde-man all the facts that he had at any one time that he felt Mr. Haldeman ought to have? A. My opinion would be that John Dean would dis-close the facts to Mr. Halde-man.

Gemstone Material

Q. Now, you are also fa-miliar with Mr. Magruder's testimony that after the Feb. 4 meeting and when there was an installation of wirewas an installation of wire-tap equipment in the Water-gate or Democratic National Committee headquarters, that he showed you at a particu-lar time the so-called Gem-stone material. Did he in fact show you such Gem-stone material? A. No, he did not.

Q. Now, did you ever hear, prior to June 17, the term, the code term "Gemstone?"

A. No, I did not. Q. Why would Mr. Mag-ruder keep from you this very sensitive material? I think his testimony here was that he thought it was so sensitive that he did not, as he would usually, send you the ma-terials, he asked you to come over to the office to see them. Would it not be nat-ural that Mr. Magruder would ask you to come see these materials? A. Well, his testimony that

A. Well, his testimony that it was too sensitive to send over is inconsistent with his testimony that he sent auto-matically the budgets [for in-telligence activities] over to me. If the budgets contain bugging and wiretapping, that would strike me as far more sensitive a matter to send through normal messenger channels than some file which other witnesses have indi-cated was not patently illegal on its face. Q. In other words, what you are saying is that you never did see the Gemstone file, Mr. Magruder never in-vited you over to see it, and that prior to March 30, you had no knowledge of any so-called Liddy intelligence plan? A. That is correct. Q. Now, did that change, at least after March 30? A. Yes, I was aware that Mr. Magruder would be going down to Key Biscayne to review several campaign decisions that had accumu-lated during John Mitchell's working on the I.T.T. prob-lem. He called me up in an apparently fairly brief tele-phone conversation and re-viewed the 30 or so pending campaign decisions. I took notes on that telephone con-versation and prepared shortly thereafter a political matters memorandum for Mr. Haldeman, summarizing tax well as other information.

Haldeman Notified

Q. And what did that in-clude? I mean did it include a Liddy intelligence plan? A. Yes, Mr. Magruder told that a sophisticated political in-telligence gathering system had been approved and I reported that to Mr. Halde-man.

had been approved and -reported that to Mr. Halde-man. Q. Were you aware that that was one of these items for decision that went down to Key Biscayne with Mr. Magruder? A. No, I was not. Q. So that it was after he came back that he reported that to you? A. That is correct. Q. Can you recall approxi-mately when he made that report to you? A. Well, it was shortly thereafter, I would guess either Friday, March 31, maybe Saturday. My sec-retary recalls having typed the memorandum on Friday. Q. And it is clear in your mind that Mr. Magruder re-ported that Mr. Mitchell had in fact approved a sophisti-cated intelligence plan? A. Well, I concluded that Mr. Mitchell had approved it. I believe that when Mr. Ma-gruder was going through the decisions and the way I would usually report it to Mr. Hal-deman would be that Mr. Ma-gruder reports that Mr. Mitchell has approved the fol-lowing matters, and I would put a colon, and then I would list the items. Q. But did you do it with regard to this plan? A. Yes, the two one of the 30 items put a colon, and then I would list the items. Q. But did you do it with regard to this plan? A. Yes, that was one of the 30 items that was listed. Q. I think in your state-ment you referred to a so-phisticated intelligence sys-tem with a budget of 300-300 what? A. Well, it is $300,000 on almost all of the memoranda that I wrote to Mr. Haldeman, I would leave off the last three zeroes, be-cause usually the figures that we were dealing with were very, very large. Q. Now, you say that you then prepared a political ac-tion memorandum—a Polit-ical Matters Memorandum for Mr. Haldeman, and you included this approved so-phisticated intelligence plan, that $300,000 budget in that that $300,000 budget, in that Political Matters Memoran-dum. Do you recall the num-ber of that memorandum? A. Yes, it was Political Mat-ters Memorandum No. 8.

Wrote 28 Reports

Q. And how many Political Matters Memoranda did you write after that, can you re-call approximately? A. Well, through the campaign and towards the end of the cam-paign, they got a little further apart, but I wrote 28.

Apart, but 1 wrote 28. Q. Did you receive any in-formation or indication that Mr. Haldeman, in fact, read the Political Matters Memo-randum No. 18 with specific reference to the sophisticated intelligence plan with a budg-et of $300,000? A Yas is wron Mr. Halde

A. Yes, it was Mr. Halde-man's practice when he would man's practice when he would read such a memorandum to make notes and check off those paragraphs which he had indicated and then he would write it up in the upper right hand corner, "to Stra-chan," in this case indicating the memorandum should be returned directly to me, and I would go through his memo-randa after he had read them, and this particular one I re-read, and noted his checking off of all the paragraphs that I had prepared for him.

Q. Was there any other comment besides that par-ticular one? A. Besides the paragraph that you are con-cerned about there was sim-ply a blank check. Q. Now, did there come a time shortly afterwards when you were asked to do any-thing about that particular matter? Did that just stay in your file or did Mr. Haldeman take any further action on it, to your knowledge? A. Well, after the memo-randum came back out Mr. Haldeman was going to meet randum came back out Mr. Haldeman was going to meet with Mr. Mitchell on April 4. Q. How did you learn about that? A. Mr. Haldeman had a system on his telephones where he could push a button and have one of his personal aides monitor the telephone conversation conversation. Q. Would this be similar to an extension phone where, somebody would be asked to get on an extension phone and just listen in?

and just listen in? A. Well, it would be dif-ferent from an extension phone because you could not detect the fact that it was picked up, and there was no way that the person listening on the phone could make any noise either by talking or by a secretary typing to indicate that there was someone else on the phone.

Button on the Phone

Button on the Phone Button on the Phone Q. How were you notified or how was it indicated to you that you were to pick up the line? A. Well, there was a but-ton on the call director phone that I had which would buzz when I was to pick that line up, and I pushed down the button and began listen-ing to the conversation usual-ly at that time which was already in progress. Q. All right. In this par-ticular case now with a call, I take it, to Mr. Mitchell, could you tell us, having picked up the line, what did you hear? A. Well, Mr. Mitchell in-dicated that he was either going to return or had re-turned from Florida, and Mr. Haldeman jokingly said, "Well, that is clearly a mis-take. You ought to stay down there and vacation some more," and Mr. Mitchell indicated that, "Well, we had better get together and talk about some matters." Halde-man asked him if 3:00 o'clock that day would be conven-ient. Q. And that day was when? A caseid a U2002 that day would be conven-ient. Q. And that day was when? A. April 4, [1972]. Q. And was there, in fact, a meeting on April 4, 1972 between Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Mitchell? A. Well, I did not attend the meeting so I could not testify that there was in fact but I prepared a talking paper for the meeting and we would prepare a folder which would include the talking paper, and the talk-ing paper went into his office and came back out after-wards.

and came back out after-wards. Q. Now, in this talking paper, did you include the item of the sophisticated in-telligence plan with a budget of $300,000? A. Yes. In most talking papers I would fre-quently pose the question, is the intelligence system åde-quate? Is the proposal on track, just to get the conver-sation going on the subject, and in this particular one I did include that paragraph.

Higby told me yes, in fact Magruder had talked with Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman was handling the en-

Q. At that point having learned that Mr. Haldeman now had spoken to Mr. Ma-gruder and was informed did a concern come into your mind?

A. Yes, I expected over the entire weekend Mr. Halde-man to call me and ask me that I knew, if I knew any-thing why I had not reported to him, the usual very tough questions he would ask.

Q. Did you begin at that time to suspect any problem that Mr. Haldeman may have with regard to this? A. Well, you have to draw one of three conclusions: Either he knew about it ahead of time; either he didn't expect me to report to him, or he had re-ceived a report and had ceived a rep calmed down.

Q. Did you arrive at any one conclusion? A. It was either one of the latter two, either he knew or he didn't expect me to report to him. Q. What did you do after you now learned that he had heard about it, what did you heard about it, what did you do yourself? A. I didn't do anything. The White House logs indicate that I was in the White House for a min-ute Sunday, I don't know what that was for. The next day, Monday— Q. Monday was June 19, 1972? A. I began going through my files, Mr. Halde-man's files, to see if there were any indications of any information that would be in any way related to this act.

information that would be in any way related to this act. Q. Well, did you come to any conclusion as to whether there was anything in the files that would be in any way related? Yes, I pulled out several documents, most particularly Political Matters Memorandum No. 18.

Intelligence Plan Reference

Q. And that was the one that referred to the sophisticated intelligence plan? A.

that is correct. Q. Did you also pull out that memorandum or these little notes that you had taken concerning the comtaken concerning the com-munication that you had from Mr. Haldeman to contact Mr. Liddy about his capabilities being switched from Muskie to McGovern? A. Well, I pull-ed that document out but I did not take that up to Mr. Haldeman.

Q. Now, what did you be-lieve at that time when you took the document out? Did you believe that a break-in at the Democratic National Committee headquarters was in fact related to this plan? A. I didn't know for sure but I had pretty strong suspi-cions cions.

Q. Did you meet with Mr. Haldeman shortly after you did that, after you pulled that file out? A. Yes, I did.

Q. Could you tell us when? A. I believe it was the morn-A. I believe it was included ing of June 20. He had re-turned from Florida, I had given a note to Mr. Higby given a note to Mr. Higby that I thought I should see Mr. Haldeman. Mr. Haldeman summoned me to his office, and I walked in with the Political Matters Memorandum.

Q. I think you had indicated that you were somewhat con-cerned about Mr. Haldeman's reaction to you about not be-ing informed. Were you still concerned when you met with Mr. Haldeman on June 20? A. Yes, I was scared to death. I thought I would be fired at that point for not having figured that out.

Q. Were you fired or did he berate you?

A. No, he did not berate e. He said almost jokingly, well, what do we know about the events over the week-end? And I was quite nervous and retreated to sort of legal protective terms and I said, well, sir, this is what can be imputed to you through me, your agent, and opened the political matters memoran-dum to the paragraph on intelligence, showed it to him. He acknowledged his check and that he had read that, and said that he had not read the tab, which had been attached, turned, began reading it, said, maybe I should have been reading these, these are quite inter-esting, and read the tab.

Sedan Tab II Mentioned

Q. What tab was that? A. That was Sedan Chair II.

Q. Then what, if anything, did you tell him or did he tell you after he had gone through this memorandum again? A. He told me, well, make sure our files are clean.

Q. What did that mean to you? A. Well, I went down and shredded that document and others related.

Q. Now, did you do that on your own initiative as such, or did you feel that you were making sure that you were following Mr. Haldeman's in-struction that you should make sure the files are clean? A. No, I believed I was following his orders. Q. And you shredded all of that, all of No. 18, the Po-litical Matters Memorandum No. 18? A. That is correct.

Q. What about the memo-randum that you had made on the communication with regard to Mr. Liddy? A. Yes,

I shredded that also. Q. Were there any other documents that you shredded? A. Yes, I did go through and make sure our files were clean. I shredded the talking paper between Mr. Halde-man and Mr. Mitchell on man and Mr. Mitchell on April 4, I shredded a defer-ence to Mr. Segretti, I shredded Mr. Segretti's tele-phone number.
Q. What reference was that to Mr. Segretti?
A. Well, that had been a dispute between whether or note Mr. Segretti should con-tinue out in the field funcnote Mr. Segretti should con-tinue out in the field func-tioning somewhat independ-ent. Mr. Magruder wrote a memorandum to Mr. Mitchell entitled, "Matter of Potential Embarrassment," in which he described this individual in the field and how that indi-vidual should be under the direction of Mr. Liddy. Mr. Mitchell had a copy of that and Mr. Haldeman had a copy of that. And Mr. Haldeman had told me to call up Mr. Segretti and to tell him to expect a call and his direc-tions from Mr. Liddy. I shred-ded that memorandum also. Q. Were there any other

Q. Were there any other documents that you shred-ded? A. Well, we gave the committee list. Q. You may have stated,

Q. You may have stated, but did that include the talk-ing paper that you had pre-pared for Mr. Haldeman for his meeting with Mr. Mitchell on April 4th? A. Yes, I think I said that this was one of the items. Q. Now, after you shredded these papers on the 20th of June, 1972, did you inform anybody that you had done this?

I went over to Yes, A. John Dean's office and gave him a list orally of the docu-ments that I had shredded ments that I had shredded and told him that those had been Mr. Haldeman's instructions.

Q. Why did you inform John Dean? A. Well, John Dean was, as you know, the counsel to the President and the man who would pre-sumably be handling this problem.

Q. Did you inform anybody else? A. No. Q. Now, have you since had an opportunity to go through the White House records to look at the vari-ous memoranda that you have prepared in the past? A. Yes, I have gone back into an Executive Office

A. Yes, I have gone back into an Executive Office Building office, Room 522, to go through the files. Q. And did these files still have the political matters memorandum that you had prepared for Mr. Haldeman? A. Well, they contained all Political Matters Momented Political Matters Memoranda except No. 18. Q. Eighteen was missing?

A. That is right. Q. So you reaffirmed the fact that you had destroyed 18? A. Well, I did not forget that.

Q. No. It had not been replaced, anyway? A. No. Q. Now, later, did you ever inform Mr. Haldeman that you had, you wanted to make sure that the files were clean or that you had destroyed, in fact the particular files that fact, the particular files that you were worried about? A. Yes. On July 1, I was invited to go out with the PVresidential party on Air Force 1. At that time I reviewed both tial both Matters Memorandum and the fact that I had in fact made sure the files were clean.

Q. What was Mr. Halde-man's reaction, if anything, when you told him that you had destroyed No. 18? A. I do not think he said any-thing. I just reported it as a matter of fact and we went on to something else. Q. And to your recollec-tion, he accepted that as a matter of fact? A. Well, I would remember if he had would remember if he had told me that was a very stupid thing to do. Q. Now, after this event, and after, of course, the breakin at Watergate, what was your relationship with the Committee to Re-elect the President? Did it con-tinue and did you continue tinue, and did you continue as liaison? A. Yes, it did. Q. Did you have any re-sponsibilities to report to Mr.

Haldeman concerning the Watergate affair? A. None, Q. I take it that after the break-in, the so-called Water-gate affair became an important matter of concern in the campaign. A. Well, every-body follows it rather closely.

Q. And I take it various meetings were held, through meetings were held, through the latter part of June, July and August. Were you aware of those meetings? A. No, not really. I cer-tainly never attended any. I don't think I was specifically aware that they were having all these meetings on what all these meetings on what had has turned out to be the Watergate matter. Q. Were you aware of an interchange of information, let me say between Mr. Dean and Mr. Magruder, Mr. Mitch-ell, Mr. Mardian, Mr. LaRue, and then on the other side, Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman, involving meetings? these meetings? A. No, I don't think so and that sort of goes to the point of how Dean could keep all facts and people sort of in order. I don't think he ever told me that he was having all these meetings. Q. So as you testified ear-lier with regard to the meet-ing back on Feb. 4 and also Jan. 27, when Mr. Dean was present, Mr. Haldeman would rely on Mr. Dean's report present, Mr. Haldeman would rely on Mr. Dean's report when Mr. Dean attended all these meetings over at the committee, he would be the one that would communicate this information to Mr. Hal-deman if anybody did? deman if anybody did?

Would Report Directly

A. That is correct, and I would guess that he would report directly rather than through me or one of his aides. But I didn't know that for a fact.

Or a fact. Q. Now, did there come a time when you became aware of a transfer of $350,000 from the Committee to Re-elect the President to Mr. Haldeman or the White House under Mr. Haldeman's com under Mr. Haldeman's control?

A. Yes. The subject had been discussed for a couple of months before that. This would be from December, 1971, through April, '72. Mr. Haldeman, his office con-ducted extensive polling, and he told me at one point, when I was having discus-sions with Mr. Kalmbach, to make sure that we have an ample supply of cash to pay for these polls. A. Yes. The subject had for these polls. I talked with John Dean about it, tried to arrange for John Dean a method for holding the money. He eventually told me that he could not do it.

do it. On April 6th, I prepared a memorandum for Mr. Halde-man saying that we are going to get money from the com-mittee before the new finance law and we have to get it very soon; John Dean can't make arrangements. You have four other alternatives. He checked the one indicating that I should go and pick up the money. I went over to 1701, to the committee to re-elect the President, either Mr. Kalm-bach's office or to Mr. Sloan's office. Q. And you took this

Q. And you took this money — was this in cash? A. Yes, it was. Q. And you returned it back now to the White House? A. That is correct. Q. Actually, what was that money for? Was that for the command or the disburse-ment of Mr. Haldeman? A. Definitely.

ment of Wit. Instead Definitely. Q. Now, did you become aware of the fact that any money was in fact spent from that $350,000?

A. Yes. Somewhere around the time of the Hanoi-Hai-phong bombing, Mr. Howard came to me and indicated that Mr. Colson had an ap-proved advertisement, indi-cating public support for the bombing and mining decision. Mr. Howard said that Mr. Mr. Howard said that Mr. Colson needed $22,000 and I asked Mr. Haldeman if we should authorize that expenditure. He said yes, and the money was delivered.
