

Haldeman's Head With Hair

Now that he has left his high-level White House job, H. R. Haldeman apparently has found time to let his hair grow.

The new Haldeman (left) appeared in U.S. District Court in Washington yesterday on some Watergate matters looking quite different from his crewcut days (right) in the White House.

Grinning broadly, Haldeman told reporter that his son Hank had agreed to trim his shoulder-length hair to a crewcut, if his father would let his grow to the shoulders.

SFChronicle

