

Agnew Privilege

Washington

President Nixon signed into law yesterday legislation authorizing former vice president Spiro T. Agnew to use the official mail frank privilege until November 10.

The franking privilege extends to letters weighing four ounces or less to any person, and to other mail weighing four pounds or less which is directed to a government official.

United Press
