

from Herb Caen column:

★ ★ ★

THE LATE BENIAMINO BUFANO'S son, Erskine, and Art Dealer Ed Cory flash from Florence, Italy, that they visited Benny's studio in Pietrasanta and found an unfinished marble Madonna and Child that is "without doubt one of his greatest works." It will be shipped for display at Cory's gallery on Geary . . . Sportscaster Hank Greenwald, late (and great) of the Warriors, is now living at Darling Point in Australia, "and so far," he reports, "the only thing I really miss is Swensen's ice cream. If I left my heart anywhere in San Francisco, it's at Union and Hyde" . . . Chase Webb, piping up as Mr. Nixon abruptly ended his press conference in the face of rough questioning: "When the going gets tough the tough get going, right?" . . . And Stockbroker Tom Yee is fascinated to discover that Haverhill's Christmas catalogue, just out, lists a "Nixon Candle. Stands nearly lifesize, makes you want to salute!" Well, that takes care of Archie Cox's present.

★ ★ ★