MRS. MITCHELL SEES
NIXON 'OUT BY APRIL'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, one of the first public figures to call for President Nixon's resignation, predicted last night that he would have to quit and "will be out by April."

"He's going to be kicked out," she told a United Press International reporter in an evening telephone call. "I'll give him till April at the latest."

Mrs. Mitchell, sounding sprightly and in good spirits, said she had reached that conclusion after being "down in Washington" and otherwise "in touch with the country."

"People know now that he cannot reign as President, she said. "Everybody in the country is against him."

As for her personal life, Mrs. Mitchell indicated that it was all over between her and her husband, former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, although she has not taken any steps to seek a divorce.

Asked if her marriage was going to last, she replied: "I don't want it to. You don't know what I've been through for four and a half years. But don't worry about Martha. She'll get along."

Mr. Mitchell walked out of their New York apartment on Sept. 11 and moved into a hotel.
