

Due to mechanical difficulties, the following paragraphs were dropped from Patrick J. Buchanan's article on yesterday's Op-Ed Page:

"... the United States is again resorting to mass killing to end the killing." Eric Sevareid, Dec. 22, 1972.

"... the elected leader of the greatest democracy acts like a mad-dened tyrant."—Anthony Lewis, Dec. 20, 1972.

"He has conducted a bombing policy... so ruthless and so difficult to fathom politically as to cause millions of Americans to cringe in shame and to wonder at their President's very sanity."—The Washington Post, Jan. 7, 1973.

Another paragraph was incorrect. It should have read:

What of the President's contention that terms such as tyrant, dictator, "lost his senses" have been linked with his name and conveyed to the nation by the national media?
