ixon Tax Muddle Outlined

By Jack Anderson

President Nixon allegedly discussed concealing his daughter Tricia's interest in two Key Biscayne, Fla., lots in order to ital gains on the Key Biscayne reduce her income taxes. But a property," suggested Kinsey. White House spokesman insisted that the President never even considered the dubious scheme.

The charge that he juggled his taxes by hiding Tricia's share in the property was first reported nied by the White House earlier this month.

We have now learned the details, which were outlined behind closed doors by the former aide who helped the President with his tax deductions.

Rov (Pete) Kinsey, who worked under former White House counsel John Dean, told land. They were sold to (a man President's taxes, except to rethe Senate Watergate commit-in) Yonkers, N.Y., who was ap-peat the White House denial tee that the Tricia Nixon angle was raised by John Ehrlichman, the former aide who watched over the Nixon family affairs.

"Early in December, 1972," reported Kinsey, "the decision was made that the President would sell two vacant lots in Key Biscayne." This was the last year that the President could cating a sale for $134,000, the chief counsel, William Cassel-take advantage of a $574,000 tax other a sale for $150,000." deduction for donating his vice able deduction to offset the cap-There was a memo from Ehrlichman to Dean, saying that the President wanted to know the tax consequences if he were to assume the full gain.

"This was because Tricia had apparently contributed $20,000 the full story. by Newsweek magazine and de- to the purchase of the property, and the President had put in nally bought in 1969, but Tricia was not an owner of record-al- her. He didn't say how he was though we had a hard time determining just what happened with the purchase of that prop- DeMarco, who claimed to have > parently a straw man for Robert that Tricia's holdings were con-Abplanalp." The wealthy Ab-cealed. Our own White House planalp has been deeply involved in the President's real taxes on her share of the profits. estate transactions.

> could get the Key Biscayne deal said he had discussed the Key straight because "there were Biscayne property with the Gentwo contracts of sale, one indi-eral Services Administration's other a sale for $150,000."

He relied for his information presidential papers to the government.

"They wanted to use the avail
"They wanted to use th answer in dollars and cents.

this transaction at length. He sort of a deal." was in about the same position as I was getting figures from tee about a conversation with owner of record so the Presi-$17,000. The property was origident'll take the gain and I'll find a way to get her share back to going to do this."

We read Kinsey's statement to recollected the conversation. "There were two parcels of He refused to comment on the sources say Tricia paid the Under questioning by Sen. Lo-Kinsey reported that he never well Weiker (R-Conn.), Kinsey man. "We had some conversations quest for advice," said Kinsey, would come out—that it would "was in generalities, so another leak—how Abplanalp was inmemo came back asking for an volved in the Key Biscayne compound. Apparently, he obtained "DeMarco and I talked about one of the houses there in some Kinsey also told the commitother people and not knowing Watergate conspirator G. Gor-"DeMarco said Tricia's not an come up of campaign contributions in the form of stock certificates.

> "We heard they were putting out a guide paper saying no capital gains need be declared on donated stock," said Kinsey. "IRS was not clear, so I called Liddy and put a negative rhetorical question to him: sort of, You're not really saying that, are you?'

"He replied: 'Oh, yeah! We just send the certificates to a guy in the Midwest. He sells them and sends me the cash, and I put in the safe.'

"I said, 'They may be hot (stolen).'

"Liddy said: 'Oh yeah, I assume some of them were.

"At that point I said to myself, this guy's nuts and hung up."