

Wallace 'Tax Break' For Donated Papers

Montgomery, Ala.

Governor George Wallace received a personal income tax deduction by donating his 1968 presidential campaign papers to the state, the Montgomery Advertiser reports.

The newspaper said yesterday that Wallace made his deduction of about $30,000 under the same law President Nixon used in claiming deduction for some of his papers.

The director of state archives, Milo Howard, confirmed that the Alabama Department of Archives and History has the Wallace papers but declined to say what value was put on them.

"That's a personal matter between the governor and the archives," Howard said. The director also refused to show the papers.

"It was a restricted gift and can be seen only with permission from Governor Wallace or the executor of his estate for the next 25 years," Howard said.
