

Carnation

Executive's Guilty Plea

Washington

The Carnation Milk Co. yesterday became the ninth corporation to plead guilty to allegations brought by the Watergate special prosecutor that it illegally gave company funds to political fund-raisers.

H. Everett Olson, chairman of the company, pleaded guilty for himself and for Carnation. U.S. District Judge George L. Hart fined the company the maximum $5000 and Olson the maximum of $1000.

The contributions totaled $8900. Of the total, $2900 went to the Finance Committee for the Reelection of the President, $1000 to the Senate-House majority dinner, an annual Washington affair sponsored by the House and the Senate Republican Campaign Committees, and $5000 to the Southern California Presidential Dinner Committee.

New York Times