

United Press International

RELEASED FROM CUSTODY: Bernard L. Barker, one of the seven Watergate conspirators, leaving U.S. District Court in Washington with his wife. He told reporters he had injured his face from "exposure to the cold" as he did forestry work while in custody at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. He was freed on his personal recognizance pending a decision on the appeal of his conviction.