

Nixon's Paris TripWashington

President Nixon will fly to Paris this morning to attend memorial services for French President Georges Pompidou, the White House said yesterday.

He will not hold substantive discussions with other foreign leaders there, deputy press secretary Gerald Warren said, and will return to Washington late tomorrow night.

Warren said the President "believes it would be inappropriate to engage in any other business on such an occasion."

United Press